REPORT PURPOSE

The purpose of this report is for Council to consider adopting the new Shire of East Pilbara Community Engagement Policy.

BACKGROUND

Council may from time to time adopt policies to establish agreed positions and to provide a framework for consistent decision making. Section 2.7(2)(b) of the Local Government Act 1995 ("the Act") provides that a key role for a Council is to determine the local government's policies.

Policies should be subject to timely reviews to ensure they are relevant and fit for purpose.

The proposed Policy has been developed in consultation with internal stakeholders.

The Policy is based on the principles of the International Association of Public Participation Spectrum.

COMMENTS/OPTIONS/DISCUSSIONS

The purpose of the Policy is to:

- ensure communication and community engagement is proactively planned around each major project and issue that arises;
- improve communication and brand consistency;
- increase the timeliness and effectiveness of communication and engagement internally and externally;
- align communication and community engagement activity with the use of stakeholder analysis tools; and
- ensure consultation and communication planning to meet stakeholder needs and expectations.

The new Shire of East Pilbara Community Engagement Policy (Appendix 1) outlines Council’s commitment to the process of community engagement as a principle of action. To demonstrate Council’s continued and future commitments to collaborative and participatory practices in engaging in dialogue with its community. To demonstrate that Council values the thoughts, ideas, advice and at times, key recommendations on the matters of significance as determined by our East Pilbara communities.

The Shire’s approach to community engagement is founded in the integrity and in the priority of its relationship with the community. The Shire’s community engagement practices will be based on the following principles, where engagement is:

Place-Based	Considering the unique characteristics, circumstances and needs of the different towns and communities that make up the Shire.
Culturally Appropriate	Ensuring that all cultures are respected, safe and understood, with sensitivity towards past experiences, cultural norms, and practices, as well as a willingness to inquire and learn.
Fair and Accessible	Commitments to opportunities and techniques are used to encourage input and addresses barriers to participation and recognise that ‘one size does not fit all’. A variety of communication and engagement strategies will be used to increase participation potential and provide participants flexibility in how they choose to participate.

Transparent	Community engagement activities are open and clear. Council will carefully consider and accurately represent the community’s role and scope for influence in the decision-making process and reflect how community input has influenced decisions or outcomes. Following consultation events, participants will have access to community participation reports, which the SOEP will post online.
Collaborative	Working in partnership and collaboration across the business units, public, private and community sectors, to assist in delivering better community engagement outcomes and to share skills and knowledge to facilitate ongoing learning and improvement.
Well-Planned	The planning of community engagement activities is proactive, tailored and coordinated to ensure timely and effective outcomes are achieved.

The Shire commits to:

- open and transparent communication - anything that is not commercially sensitive should be communicated in a complete, clear, and timely manner. Important events should also be communicated in a carefully thought-out manner;
- breaking both good and negative news fast, even when it's unclear how the choice or message will affect everything;
- acknowledging that everyone impacted by a choice has a right to participate in its making;
- identifying and facilitating the participation of individuals who may be impacted; letting participants select and define how they participate or receive information; and
- giving participants the information, they require to engage meaningfully; explaining to them how their participation influenced the decision; and fostering a continuing relationship between the community and the council.

Additionally, the Shire’s is currently developing an inaugural On Line Community Engagement Platform. The Online Community Engagement Platform or E Platform will create a simple and easy accessible way for the Shire’s community to engage the Shire via an online registration and interfacing with Shire topics and infrastructure / community projects.

The platform is titled “Your Say East Pilbara”. This platform will become live in May 2024. A subsequent and supporting Community Engagement Toolkit is also being developed and delivered by June 2024 to support the implementation of the policy.

The Shire of East Pilbara is dedicated to timely, transparent, and consistent communication, giving all relevant parties the chance to learn about, engage with, and participate in Council decisions regarding matters that concern or impact them.

Objective

Actively engaging with local communities is a requirement for Councils under the Local Government Act 1995 to ensure greater community participation in the decisions and affairs of local governments. Further sound community engagement policy objectives assist the Shire Council Member, Executive and Staff to facilitate effective communication between the community and the council. Therefore, this Policy's objectives are to:

- improve communication and brand consistency;
- increase the timeliness and effectiveness of communication and engagement internally and externally;
- align communication and community engagement activity with the use of stakeholder analysis tools; and

The policy seeks to increase levels of employee communications, community engagement practices, and public confidence in the Shire's functionality as an LGA. Further, the policy seeks to improve the Shire's ability to ensure greater community participation in the decisions and affairs of local governments, leading to improved decision-making processes with the provision and management of local resources and project implementation.

Policy Statement

The Shire of East Pilbara (SoEP) is dedicated to timely, transparent, and consistent communications, giving all parties an opportunity to be informed, learn about, engage with, and participate in Council decisions regarding matters that concern or impact our community into the future.

Sound governance of the Shire's community engagement systems and engagement methods will ensure timely, meaningful, and appropriate communication and engagement opportunities to have a 'Your Say' on the future of East Pilbara. This Policy represents a stated commitment to ensuring engagement opportunities are provided to East Pilbara stakeholders to participate, at the appropriate level of participation, in the development and, at times, review of SoEP projects, planning and services. The Policy ensures both the Shire and stakeholder's comments and concerns are acknowledged and considered by both parties, and clearly illuminates where stakeholder impacts on decisions are situated. The Policy also stipulates a commitment by the SoEP to make available feedback on the results of the engagement inputs and their impact on decisions made by Council.

The Shire, in implementing this Community Engagement Policy and its guiding principles, will be guided by relevant best practice principles and industry standards in community engagement including an alignment to the core values of the International Association of Public Participation (IAP2).

OFFICER'S RECOMMENDATION / MOTION

Moved: Cr McWhirter-Brooks

Seconded: Cr Baer

That Council adopts the submission document (attached as Appendix 2) as Council's response to the Department of Local Government, Sport and Cultural Industries' Standardised Meeting Procedures Consultation Paper.

REPORT PURPOSE

For Council to consider adopting a submission to the Department of Local Government, Sport and Cultural Industries (DLGSC) in relation to a proposed standardised form of meeting procedures to be adhered to by all WA local governments.

BACKGROUND

As part of its program of reform to the Local Government Act 1995 (“the Act”), the WA Government has inserted a new section into the Act to provide for the making by regulation of standardised meeting procedures for all local governments. This will consequentially result in the repeal by the Governor of the Shire of East Pilbara Meeting Procedures Local Law 2019, which currently governs the procedures of the Shire's Council and Council Committee meetings.

The DLGSC website states that: “a consistent approach to all local government council and committee meetings will make it easier and simpler for people to participate in and observe council meetings, wherever they are held”.

The Department lists a range of identified benefits in setting a standard for all WA council and committee meeting procedures, including:

- to simplify and improve training for council members and local government staff;
- to strengthen the enforcement of breaches of meeting procedures; and
- to remove variation between councils in how members of the public may engage with council meetings.

The DLGSC has commenced a broad process of consultation to inform the drafting of standardised meeting procedures, which will in time be prescribed by the Local Government (Administration) Regulations 1996 (“the Regulations”).

As part of that consultation process, the DLGSC has released a Consultation Paper, which is attached to this report as Appendix 1. The DLGSC has invited submissions to the Consultation Paper, which must be received by 29 May 2024.

Council Members have been briefed on the contents of the DLGSC Consultation Paper at workshops held on 14 March 2024 and 17 April 2024, and been provided with the opportunity to participate in an internal survey to gauge feedback on the variety of questions posed by the Consultation Paper.

COMMENTS/OPTIONS/DISCUSSIONS

Shire officers have prepared a submission document, which is recommended for adoption by Council and attached as Appendix 2 to this report. The submission document is framed on the basis of the Consultation Paper questions which relate to specific areas under consideration by DLGSC

Should Council wish to make a submission on the proposal to introduce standardised meeting procedures and the content of those procedures, it is recommended that Council authorise the Chief Executive Officer to prepare a submission in consultation with the Council

OPTIONS

1. That Council adopts the submission as recommended; or
2. The Council redrafts the submission, which must be submitted by 29 May 2024; or
3. That Council declines the invitation of the DLGSC and not make a submission.

Introduction

The State Government is implementing a number of reforms to the Local Government Act 1995 (the Act) to improve transparency and accountability in local government in Western Australia and deliver benefits to ratepayers and residents.

Standardising council and committee procedures is part of these reforms. Establishing a consistent approach to all local government council and committee meetings will make it easier and simpler for people to participate in and observe council meetings, wherever they are held.

Establishing one standard is expected to simplify and improve training for council members and local government staff. It can also strengthen the enforcement of breaches of meeting procedures (for instance, if a person repeatedly and unreasonably disrupts a meeting).

Currently, it is usual practice for local governments to have local laws and policies in place to govern the conduct of council meetings. However, this approach means that there can be variation in how members of the public can engage with council meetings.

The Local Government Amendment Act 2023 inserts section 5.33A, to allow standardised meeting procedures for all local governments to be made in the form of Regulations or model provisions.

The State Government intends under section 5.33A to make Regulations that apply to all local governments and an order of the Governor under section 3.17 of the Act to repeal all existing local government meetings procedures, standing orders or council meeting local laws.

It is intended that the new standard meeting procedures (also known as “standing orders”) apply to all council and committee meetings held by local governments. It is also intended that Regulations will contain consistent rules for how meetings are held.

It is envisaged that relevant elements of Parts 2 and 3 of the Local Government \(Administration\) Regulations 1996 (the Regulations) would be incorporated into the new standardised meeting procedures.

The Department of Local Government, Sport and Cultural Industries (DLGSC) will also develop reference materials for council members, local government staff and communities to assist in ensuring consistency throughout the sector.

Note: Unless otherwise specified in this paper, the word meeting refers to both a council or a committee meeting and the word member refers to both a council and a committee member.

Consultation process

You may choose to answer all or some of the questions in the consultation paper, and/or provide a submission that raises related matters not included in this consultation paper.

The DLGSC invites local governments, council members, Chief Executive Officers (CEOs), local government employees, groups and associations, and members of the community to consider the proposals and provide feedback.

Our preferred method for providing a submission is our online feedback form.

Specific questions have been targeted to certain meeting procedure topics to better understand the variety of existing approaches currently used by the sector. The DLGSC is interested in learning more about how existing approaches work well in practice; and how reforms can be structured to improve transparency and public involvement, simplify the way meetings are conducted, and promote uniformity throughout the sector.

Although it is preferred that the feedback form is used to guide responses, general submissions and suggestions on any relevant topic can be provided via email to actreview@dlgsc.wa.gov.au

Part 1: General meeting process

1. Calling meetings

The calling of council meetings is outlined in sections 5.5 to 5.7 of the Act, and in existing regulations 12 to 14. Amendments are proposed to add new requirements for the oversight of special council meetings that are held at short notice and prevent any meeting from being held at an unreasonable time of day. It is important that special meetings are only convened in appropriate circumstances. Regulations are proposed to require:

- a minimum of 24 hours' notice to convene a special council meeting
- that notice to convene a special council meeting may be done with less than 24 hours' notice if an absolute majority of council members call the meeting
- that a meeting cannot commence any earlier than 8 am or later than 8 pm.

1. Is it suitable to allow for a special council meeting to be convened with less than 24 hours' notice if an absolute majority of council members call the meeting?

Yes / No

(a) If no, please provide a suggested alternative.

2. Are there any circumstances where meetings must start earlier than 8 am or later than 8 pm? Yes / No

(a) If yes, please provide examples and the suggested alternative.

2. Agendas and order of business

It is proposed to broadly retain existing requirements for local governments to publish meeting agendas.

It is proposed that the general order of meetings be outlined in the Regulations for consistency across the local government sector. However, a council or committee may decide to consider business in a different order, provided that the other requirements of the Regulations (such as public question time being held before any decisions are made) are still met.

Regulations are proposed to outline the following order of business:

- opening (local governments will still be able to continue their own practices for opening meetings, such as making acknowledgements, prayers, opening statements, etc.)
- recording attendance
- public question time (see section 6)
- public presentations and petitions (see sections 7 and 8)
- members' question time (see section 12)
- confirmation of previous minutes (see section 15)
- reports from committees and the CEO
- motions from members
- urgent business
- matters for which the meeting may be closed
- closure.

3. Is the proposed order of business suitable? Yes / No

(a) If no, please provide a suggested alternative.

3. Urgent business

Currently, individual local governments' meeting local laws and policies may vary in how urgent business is raised at a meeting. Existing local laws and policies provide various procedures for urgent business to be considered at a council meeting. Broadly, these procedures seek to limit the use of urgent business to only the most exceptional circumstances.

Regulations are proposed to allow the CEO to introduce an item without notice in cases of urgency if:

- an absolute majority of the council resolve to hear the matter at the meeting, and
- the item is clearly marked as urgent business.

It is proposed that DLGSC must be notified each time this occurs, within 7 calendar days, to ensure this process is only used in exceptional circumstances.

Urgent business may only be heard after public question time (see section 6).

4. Are the proposed requirements for urgent business suitable? Yes / No

(a) If no, please provide a suggested alternative.

4. Quorum

Existing regulation 8 addresses the process for when there isn't a quorum at a meeting.

Amendments are proposed to provide for the following where a quorum is lost or not present:

- if no quorum is present within 30 minutes of the time set for the meeting, the meeting lapses
- where quorum is lost during a meeting:
 - the meeting proceeds to the next item of business if it is due to members leaving because of a financial or proximity interest
 - the meeting is adjourned for 15 minutes for any other reason and if quorum cannot be reformed, the meeting is closed
- where quorum is lost, the names of the members then present are to be recorded in the minutes.

5. Are the proposed requirements for when a quorum is not present or lost suitable? Yes / No

(a) If no, please explain why and the suggested alternative, if any.

5. Adjourning a meeting

Currently, individual local governments' meeting local laws or policies may contain processes for adjourning a meeting. It is intended to adopt similar rules, while also addressing concerns regarding meetings of council that run late. Regulations are proposed to provide that:

- council may decide to adjourn a meeting to another day, time and place to resume from the point it adjourned
- a presiding member may adjourn a meeting for 15 minutes to regain order of a meeting that has been disrupted
- if a meeting is adjourned for a second time due to disruption, a presiding member must adjourn the meeting to another day, time or place (not on the same day), with notice being published on the local government's website.

It is also proposed that if a meeting is continuing and it reaches 10:45 pm:

- the council or committee may decide to either extend the meeting for a further 15 minutes to allow for any remaining business to be concluded or determine to adjourn the meeting

- if any business remains at 11 pm, the meeting must adjourn to a day and time which is at least 10 hours later to deal with any outstanding agenda items and a notice must be published on the local government's website listing when the meeting will resume.

6. Is 11 pm an appropriate time for when a meeting must be adjourned? Yes / No

(a) If no, what is the suggested alternative?

Part 2: Public participation

6. Public question time

Currently, the Act and Regulations require that public question time is to be made available at every council meeting and certain committee meetings.

Regulation 6 requires that at least 15 minutes is to be made available for public questions at those meetings. However, question time may be extended if there are further questions; the time may also be used for other business if there are no further questions.

Regulation 7 also provides that question time must be held before substantive decisions are made at that meeting.

Currently, the practice at many local governments is that a person who wishes to ask a question attends the meeting (either physically in-person or by electronic means) to ask their question. However, it is proposed that regulations allow for a personal representative of a person to ask a question. This provides an alternative avenue for someone who may be unable to attend a meeting to have their question raised.

Currently, individual local governments meeting local laws and policies may contain processes for members of the public to raise questions. Some requirements, such as rules requiring a person to lodge a question in writing before a meeting, may prevent a person who is not familiar with those requirements from being able to ask a question.

New standardised requirements are proposed to expand the existing Regulations to require that:

- a member of the public only needs to provide their name and suburb/locality (and not any other information) before asking a question
- a person is not required to lodge a question in writing in advance of a meeting (although a person may choose to do so, for instance if they have a very specific or technical question)
- a local government may still require a person, or their personal representative, to attend a meeting to ask a question lodged in writing in advance of the meeting for it to be addressed at that meeting
- questions must not take more than 2 minutes to ask, including a relevant preamble, unless the presiding member grants an extension of time
- if other people are waiting to ask questions, the presiding member will seek to provide equal opportunity for people to ask questions (for instance, by moving to the next person waiting after someone has asked 3 questions, and returning to the first person if time allows)
- any questions are to be answered by the presiding member, or a relevant member (nominated by the presiding member), the CEO, or an employee nominated by the CEO
- if a question, or a question of a similar nature, was asked and answered in the previous 6 months, the presiding member may direct the member of the public to the minutes of the meeting that contains the question and answer
- no debate of a question or answer is to take place
- questions may be taken on notice by the person who is answering the question
- when a question is taken on notice, a response is to be given to the member of the public in writing and a copy of the answer is to be included in the agenda of the next ordinary meeting
- the presiding member may reject questions that contain offensive language or reflect adversely on others but must provide opportunities for the question to be rephrased.

- 7. Is the existing minimum allocation of 15 minutes for public question time sufficient? Yes / No
(a) If no, what minimum time limit do you suggest?
- 8. Is 2 minutes enough time for a member of the public to ask a question? Yes / No
(a) If no, what time limit or other method of allocating questions do you suggest?
- 9. Should any other standard requirements for public question time be established? Yes / No
(a) If yes, please provide details.
- 10. Should a personal representative be able to ask a question on behalf of another person? Yes / No
(a) If no, please provide your reasons.

7. Presentations at council

Local governments commonly allow for presentations (also known as deputations) to be made to inform council decisions. Councils may set a policy for whether they hear presentations at council meetings and/or committee meetings, or at other meetings, and the circumstances in which a presentation may be heard.

It is proposed that local governments will continue to have discretion to choose whether and when to hear presentations.

To allow for a decision to be made in advance of the meeting, it is proposed that either the presiding member or CEO will make the decision on whether a presentation is heard at a meeting, based on any policy established by the council.

Accordingly, it is proposed that a council may establish a policy that determines:

- the types of meetings at which presentations may be heard
- whether the responsibility for making decisions on presentation requests sits with either the presiding member or CEO
- any other matters to guide the presiding member or CEO's decision making towards requests.

New Regulations are also proposed to:

- allow a person, or group of people, to lodge a request in accordance with the council's policy to provide a presentation at least 48 hours before the meeting
- require the presiding member or CEO to decide and provide a response to the person requesting the presentation by 12 noon the day of the meeting
- provide that if the presiding member or CEO refuses an application, they are to provide their reasons to the applicant and advise of the refusal at the meeting
- limit presentations to 5 minutes (not including questions) unless there is a resolution to extend the time limit
- allow council and committee members to ask questions of presenters.

- 11. Should the Regulations specify that a request to make a presentation must relate to an item on the agenda for the relevant meeting? Yes / No
(a) If no, please provide reasons.
- 12. Is 48 hours of notice sufficient to administer an application from a member of the public to present to a meeting? Yes / No
(a) If no, please provide reasons and suggest an alternative.

13. Should a standard time limit be set for public presentations? Yes / No

(a) If no, please provide reasons.

14. Would 5 minutes be a suitable time limit for public presentations? Yes / No

(a) If no, please provide reasons and suggest an alternative.

8. Petitions

Many local governments have a tradition of accepting petitions, mirroring the practice of Parliament.

Regulations are proposed to:

- enable any person to petition a local government by lodging a petition to the council on any matter, including petitions which may be critical of actions or decisions of the local government
- require the lead petitioner to provide their contact details
- require any person signing a petition to state their suburb/town, and declare whether they are residents and/or electors of the district
- require the petitioner to tally the number of signatories
- limit rejection of a petition to only when it is not in the prescribed form
- require that the council is to consider each petition and must determine how it is to respond, such as by seeking a report from the CEO
- allow local governments to establish an electronic petitioning system if they wish
- require all petitions received and outcomes from petitions to be summarised in a report to the annual meeting of electors.

15. Do the proposed regulations provide an effective system for managing petitions? Yes / No

(a) If no, please provide reasons and suggested alternatives.

Part 3: Conduct of debate

9. Orderly conduct of meetings

New Regulations are proposed to create a duty for all people present at a meeting to:

- ensure that the business of the meeting is attended to efficiently and without delay
- conduct themselves courteously at all times
- allow opinions to be heard within the requirements of the meetings procedures.

It is also proposed that the Regulations:

- allow members to raise points of order to bring the presiding member's attention to a departure from procedure
- provide that it is a minor breach for a presiding member to preside in a manner which is unreasonable or contravenes the requirements of the Act or Regulations
- empower the presiding member to call a person to order and:
 - should a member not comply with a third call to order, the presiding member may direct them to speak no further (but they may continue to cast their vote) for the remainder of the meeting, with failure to adhere to the direction being a minor breach

- if any other person does not comply with one call to order, the presiding member may direct them to leave the meeting, with failure to do so being an offence
- provide that a council may vote to rescind a direction made by a presiding member for a member to not speak further during a meeting
- provide that a member who has had a direction made against them to not speak further cannot move or second a motion that attempts to rescind the decision.

16. Do these measures provide a suitable framework to maintain order in meetings? Yes / No

(a) If no, what are the suggested changes?

10. Motions and amendments

Existing meeting procedures address many matters relating to the processes of decision making. This includes motions and amendments (including foreshadowed and alternate motions), notices of motion by members, reasons for changes to the CEO's recommended motion, passing motions "en bloc", and how voting occurs. The existing system of motions (including foreshadowed, amendment, alternate and revocation motions) are proposed to be broadly maintained.

Council members may raise motions that are not part of the agenda of a meeting to recommend a proposal for consideration. For instance, a motion might propose a new policy or decision.

Local governments commonly require notice of a motion to be provided in advance of a council meeting. This is to allow council members time to review the motion and for the CEO and administration to provide advice needed to assist council members with making a decision on a motion.

Providing notice to other council members, the CEO and administration can support a more fulsome consideration of the motion.

Regulations are proposed to require council members to provide written notice of motions at least 1 calendar week before the council meeting commences. This would generally allow those motions to be included in the meeting agenda, which must be published 72 hours before the commencement of the meeting.

It is proposed that council members will still be able to move amendments and alternative motions during debate on agenda items without providing written notice in advance of the meeting. This provides for members to be able to consider all options and suggestions for an item included in the agenda of a meeting.

It is proposed that reasons for notices of motion, amendments and other decisions that are changed at a meeting would still be required.

17. Is a period of 1 calendar week an appropriate notice period for motions? Yes / No

(a) If no, what is your suggested alternative?

18. Are these proposals for motions suitable? Yes / No

(a) If no, please provide reasons.

11. Debate on a motion

The practice of motions being moved and seconded and debate alternating between speakers for and against the motion is used in meeting procedures statewide.

Some local governments have a further requirement where if a motion is not opposed, no debate occurs, and the motion is recorded as passing unanimously.

Regulations are proposed to provide for the following rules for formal debate on a motion or amendment:

- any motion must be seconded before it may be debated (or carried without debate)
- a motion is carried without debate if no member is opposed to the motion

- if a member is opposed, the mover and seconder may speak and are followed by alternating speakers against and for the motion, with a final right of reply for the mover
- speeches must be relevant to the motion under debate and no member must speak twice – except for the mover’s right of reply, or if the council decides to allow further debate
- no member can speak for longer than 5 minutes without the approval of the meeting.

19. Do you support these rules for formal debate on a motion or amendment? Yes / No
 (a) If no, what is your suggested alternative?

20. Is 5 minutes a suitable maximum speaking time during debate? Yes / No
 (a) If no, what should be the default maximum speaking time?

21. Is a general principle against speaking twice on the same motion suitable? Yes / No
 (a) If no, please provide reasons.

12. Questions by members

The current practices for members asking formal questions at meetings varies throughout the sector. Some local governments have a “questions from council members” period; other local governments allow members to place questions on notice for future meetings.

Regulations are proposed to provide that:

- council members can ask the CEO questions related to any item on an agenda by providing the question in writing by 12 noon the day before the meeting
- council member questions are to be answered during the “questions from council members” agenda item
- council members must seek permission from the presiding member to ask the CEO clarifying questions during debate.

22. Should the new standardised provisions include a maximum time limit for the “questions from council members” agenda item? Yes / No
 (a) If no, please provide details.

23. Is 1 day of notice for a question from a council member sufficient? Yes / No
 (a) If no, what is your suggested alternative and why?

24. Is it appropriate for the presiding member to consider whether to allow a member to ask clarifying questions during debate? Yes / No
 (a) If no, what is your suggested alternative and why?

13. Procedural motions

Various procedural motions are provided for in each local governments’ meeting procedures. They help with managing a meeting effectively and democratically.

Regulations are proposed to provide for the following procedural motions to be put without debate:

- a motion to vary the order of business (e.g. to move a report in the order of business so it is considered earlier)
- a motion to adjourn debate to another time
- a motion to adjourn the meeting
- a motion to put the question (close debate)

- a motion to extend a member’s speaking time
- a motion to extend public question time
- a motion to extend the time for a public presentation
- a motion to refer a motion to a committee or for the CEO to provide a new or updated report to a future meeting
- a motion of dissent in the presiding member’s ruling (for example, to overturn the presiding member’s direction that a member does not speak further)
- a motion to close a meeting to the public in accordance with the Act.

25. Should any of these procedural motions not be included? Yes / No
 (a) If yes, please identify which motions and why they should not be included.

26. Are any additional procedural motions needed? Yes / No
 (a) If yes, please provide suggestions and explain why.

14. Adverse reflection

In addition to aspects of the model code of conduct, existing meeting procedures seek to prevent inappropriate language and adverse reflections from occurring at meetings.

Regulations are proposed to provide that:

- a person, including a member, cannot reflect adversely on the character of members, employees or other persons – if they do so they must withdraw their remark
- members cannot adversely reflect on the decisions of the council, except in making a motion to revoke or change a decision
- failure to withdraw adverse reflection is to be dealt with as disorderly conduct (including as a potential minor breach)
- a member who is concerned about a remark that may be an adverse reflection may raise a point of order with the presiding member.

27. Are there any circumstances where a person should be able to adversely reflect on another council member, an employee or a decision of the local government? Yes / No
 (a) If yes, please provide more information to explain the circumstances.

Part 4: Other matters

15. Meeting minutes and confirmation

Existing meeting procedures provide for the method of confirmation of the minutes. It is proposed to amend the Regulations to provide a clear process for correcting minutes by:

- allowing a member who identifies errors with unconfirmed minutes to provide a CEO with any proposed corrections by 12 noon the day before a meeting at which the minutes are to be confirmed
- requiring any proposed corrections to the minutes to be presented to council for a decision with a recommendation from the CEO
- Requiring DLGSC to be notified if a local government fails to adopt or defers confirmation of the minutes of a meeting.

28. Is 1 day sufficient notice for a proposed correction to the minutes? Yes / No

(a) If no, how much notice should be required and why?

16. Electronic meetings and attendance

In 2020, Regulations were introduced in response to the COVID-19 pandemic to enable councils to hold meetings electronically and for council members to attend using electronic means. This allowed councils to continue making critical decisions during the pandemic. The use of videoconferencing and the adoption of livestreaming has also encouraged public access and participation in local government.

On 9 November 2022, the Local Government \(Administration\) Amendment Regulations 2022 took effect, meaning local governments could conduct council and committee meetings electronically outside of emergency situations and that council and committee members could attend in-person meetings using electronic means, such as videoconferencing.

The State Government committed to a public consultation process to gain feedback on the effect of these changes following 12 months of operation.

29. Has the change to enable electronic meetings to occur outside of emergency situations been helpful? Yes / No / Unsure or unable to comment

(a) If no, please explain why.

30. Has the ability for individual members to attend meetings electronically been beneficial? Yes / No / Unsure or unable to comment

(a) If no, please explain why.

31. Do you think any changes to electronic meetings or electronic attendance are required? Yes / No / Unsure or unable to comment

(a) If yes, please provide details of the changes and explain why they are needed.

17. Council committees

Sections 5.8 to 5.18 of the Act provide for the establishment of committees that may assist with decision-making. Section 7.1A provides for the establishment of an audit committee. The standardised meeting procedures will only apply to those committees established under sections 5.8 and 7.1A.

It is proposed that provisions for committees be similar to requirements for council meetings. Committees may need to provide a more flexible meeting environment, in terms of time limitations and procedure, to facilitate the consideration of issues in detail. This is reflected in meeting procedures across the State.

Regulations are proposed to provide that:

- a committee meeting is to be called when requested by the presiding member of the committee, the mayor or president, or a third of the committee's members
- certain meeting procedures such as the order of debate, speaking twice and time limits do not apply to a committee
- a committee is answerable to the council and must provide at least 1 report to council on its activities each year.

32. Are any other modifications needed for committee meetings? Yes / No

(a) If yes, please provide details of the modifications and explain why.

18. Meetings of electors

The Act establishes that the mayor or president is to preside at electors' meetings, and any resolutions passed by an electors' meeting are considered at a following council meeting.

As electors' meetings are quite different to council meetings, comment is sought about whether parts of the proposed standard should apply for electors' meetings.

33. Should parts of the proposed standard apply at electors' meetings? Yes / No

(a) If yes, please explain what may be required.

19. Any other matters

Feedback is welcome on any other element of local government meetings for consideration in the further development of the new Regulations.

34. Do you have any other comments or suggestions for the proposed new Regulations?

(a) If yes, please explain what may be required.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT REFORM - STANDARDISED MEETING PROCEDURES

Submission from the Council of the Shire of East Pilbara to the Department of Local Government, Sport and Cultural Industries Consultation Paper

The Shire of East Pilbara acknowledges the Traditional Owners throughout this vast region and their continuing connection to the land, waters and community. We pay our respects to the members of these Aboriginal communities, their cultures and to their elders past, present and emerging.

The following submission was endorsed by Council at its ordinary meeting on 26 April 2024, in response to Consultation Paper release by the Department of Local Government, Sport and Cultural Industries (DLGSC).

Part 1: General Meeting Process

1. Calling Meetings

- i. Is it suitable to allow for a special council meeting to be convened with less than 24 hours' notice if an absolute majority of council members call the meeting?

Yes/No

- a. If no, please provide a suggested alternative.

Council Response:

Yes.

- ii. Are there any circumstances where meetings must start earlier than 8am or later than 8pm? Yes/No

- b. If yes, please provide examples and the suggested alternative.

Council Response:

Yes. There should be no constraints to calling a meeting at any time in extraordinary circumstances, such as in a natural disaster. It is not possible to contemplate all of the circumstances that may arise and require the immediate attention of a Council meeting, even if such circumstances are unforeseeable at this time. It is therefore not appropriate to prohibit the calling of an emergency meeting in all circumstances outside of the hours of 8am to 8pm.

2. Agendas and Order of Business

iii. Is the proposed order of business suitable? Yes/No

- a. If no, please provide a suggested alternative.

Council Response:

No. The order of business should include standing items for disclosures of interest, attendance by electronic means and declarations by Council Members that they have read and understood the business papers.

3. Urgent Business

iv. Are the proposed requirements for urgent business suitable? Yes/No

- a. If no, please provide a suggested alternative.

Council Response:

Council agrees in principle with the proposed requirements, however disagrees with the requirement to report all instances of urgent business to the Department. This provides no value and will place a further compliance burden on local governments and the Department.

4. Quorum

v. Are the proposed requirements for when a quorum is not present or lost suitable? Yes/No

- a. If no, please explain why and the suggested alternative, if any.

Council Response:

Yes.

vi. Is 11pm an appropriate time for when a meeting must be adjourned? Yes/No

- a. If no, what is the suggested alternative?

Council Response:

Yes.

Part 2: Public Participation

b. If no, what time limit or other method of allocating questions do you suggest?

Council Response:

Yes.

ix. Should any other standard requirements for public question time be established? Yes/No

c. If yes, please provide details.

Council Response:

No.

x. Should a personal representative be able to ask a question on behalf of another person? Yes/No

d. If no, please provide your reasons.

Council Response:

Yes. In such cases, the 'personal representative' must be personally appointed by the person on whose behalf they are speaking. Cases where a person purports to speak on another's behalf without their express authority cannot be permitted.

7. Presentations at Council

xi. Should the Regulations specify that a request to make a presentation must relate to an item on the agenda for the relevant meeting? Yes/No

a. If no, please provide reasons.

Council Response:

Yes.

xii. Is 48 hours of notice sufficient to administer an application from a member of the public to present to a meeting? Yes/No

b. If no, please provide reasons and suggest an alternative.

Council Response:

Yes.

xiii. Should a standard time limit be set for public presentations? Yes/No

c. If no, please provide reasons.

Item 12.1.2 Appendix 2

Part 3: Conduct of Debate

9. Orderly Conduct of Meetings

Council Response:

Yes.

12. Questions by Members

a. If no, please provide details.

Council Response:

Yes.

xxiii. Is 1 day of notice for a question from a council member sufficient? Yes/No

b. If no, what is your suggested alternative and why?

Council Response:

No. There should be no time restriction on a Council Member asking a question at any time before or during a meeting. This is particularly so in relation to items on the Council Agenda, given a Council Member is entitled to have all information they need to make a decision on any matter before the Council. In the circumstances where the Chief Executive Officer is unable to provide a response because of time constraints, they have the ability to take the question on notice and provide a response at a later time.

xxiv. Is it appropriate for the presiding member to consider whether to allow a member to ask clarifying questions during debate? Yes/No

c. If no, what is your suggested alternative and why?

Council Response:

Yes.

13. Procedural Motions

xxv. Should any of these procedural motions not be included? Yes/No

a. If yes, please identify which motions and why they should not be included.

Council Response:

Yes. Council should be entitled to debate a motion to close a meeting to the public in accordance with the Act. There may be public interest arguments against closing a meeting that Council should consider, and these matters should be subject to debate. A procedural matter ordinarily is not to be debated. Therefore a motion to close a meeting to the public should not be a procedural motion.

xxvi. Are any additional procedural motions needed? Yes/No

b. If yes, please provide suggestions and explain why.

Council Response:

No.

14. Adverse Reflection

xxvii. Are there any circumstances where a person should be able to adversely reflect on another council member, an employee or a decision of the local government?

BASIS OF PREPARATION

The financial report has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards (as they apply to local governments and not-for-profit entities) and interpretations of the Australian Accounting Standards Board, and the Local Government Act 1995 and accompanying Regulations.

The Local Government Act 1995 and accompanying Regulations take precedence over Australian Accounting Standards where they are inconsistent.

The Local Government (Financial Management) Regulations 1996 specify that vested land is a right-of-use asset to be measured at cost, and is considered a zero cost concessionary lease. All right-of-use assets under zero cost concessionary leases are measured at zero cost rather than at fair value, except for vested improvements on concessionary land leases such as roads, buildings or other infrastructure which continue to be reported at fair value, as opposed to the vested land which is measured at zero cost. The measurement of vested improvements at fair value is a departure from AASB 16 which would have required the Shire to measure any vested improvements at zero cost.

Accounting policies which have been adopted in the preparation of this financial report have been consistently applied unless stated otherwise. Except for cash flow and rate setting information, the financial report has been prepared on the accrual basis and is based on historical costs, modified, where applicable, by the measurement at fair value of selected non-current assets, financial assets and liabilities.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT REPORTING ENTITY

All funds through which the Shire controls resources to carry on its functions have been included in the financial statements forming part of this financial report.

All monies held in the Trust Fund are excluded from the financial statements. A separate statement of those monies appears at Note 13 to these financial statements.

SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICES

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of a financial report in conformity with Australian Accounting Standards requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that effect the application of policies and reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses.

The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and various other factors believed to be reasonable under the circumstances; the results of which form the basis of making the judgements about carrying values of assets and liabilities not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The balances, transactions and disclosures impacted by accounting estimates are as follows:

- estimation of fair values of certain financial assets
- estimation of fair values of fixed assets shown at fair value
- impairment of financial assets

GOODS AND SERVICES TAX

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of GST receivable or payable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included with receivables or payables in the statement of financial position. Cash flows are presented on a gross basis. The GST components of cash flows arising from investing or financing activities which are recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO are presented as operating cash flows.

ROUNDING OFF FIGURES

All figures shown in this statement are rounded to the nearest dollar.

CURRENT AND NON-CURRENT CLASSIFICATION

In the determination of whether an asset or liability is current or non-current, consideration is given to the time when each asset or liability is expected to be settled. Unless otherwise stated assets or liabilities are classified as current if expected to be settled within the next 12 months, being the Council's operational cycle.

KEY INFORMATION

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, cash at bank, deposits available on demand with banks and other short term highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of change. Bank overdrafts are reported as short term borrowings in current liabilities in the statement of net current assets.

The local government classifies financial assets at amortised cost if both of the following criteria are met:

- the asset is held within a business model whose objective is to collect the contractual cashflows, and
- the contractual terms give rise to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest.

Financial assets at amortised cost held with registered financial institutions are listed in this note other financial assets at amortised cost are provided in Note

KEY INFORMATION

Trade and other receivables include amounts due from ratepayers for unpaid rates and service charges and other amounts due from third parties for goods sold and services performed in the ordinary course of business.

Trade receivables are recognised at original invoice amount less any allowances for uncollectable amounts (i.e. impairment). The carrying amount of net trade receivables is equivalent to fair value as it is due for settlement within 30 days.

Classification and subsequent measurement

Receivables which are generally due for settlement within 30 days except rates receivables which are expected to be collected within 12 months are classified as current assets. All other receivables such as, deferred pensioner rates receivable after the end of the reporting period are classified as non-current assets.

Trade and other receivables are held with the objective to collect the contractual cashflows and therefore the Shire measures them subsequently at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method.

KEY INFORMATION

Trade and other payables represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Shire prior to the end of the period that are unpaid and arise when the Shire becomes obliged to make future payments in respect of the purchase of these goods and services. The amounts are unsecured, are recognised as a current liability and are normally paid within 30 days of recognition. The carrying amounts of trade and other payables are considered to be the same as their fair values, due to their short-term nature.

SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Each class of fixed assets within either plant and equipment or infrastructure, is carried at cost or fair value as indicated less, where applicable, any accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

Assets for which the fair value as at the date of acquisition is under $5,000 are not recognised as an asset in accordance with Financial Management Regulation 17A (5). These assets are expensed immediately.

Where multiple individual low value assets are purchased together as part of a larger asset or collectively forming a larger asset exceeding the threshold, the individual assets are recognised as one asset and capitalised.

Initial recognition and measurement for assets held at cost

Plant and equipment including furniture and equipment is recognised at cost on acquisition in accordance with Financial Management Regulation 17A. Where acquired at no cost the asset is initially recognise at fair value. Assets held at cost are depreciated and assessed for impairment annually.

Initial recognition and measurement between mandatory revaluation dates for assets held at fair value

In relation to this initial measurement, cost is determined as the fair value of the assets given as consideration plus costs incidental to the acquisition. For assets acquired at zero cost or otherwise significantly less than fair value, cost is determined as fair value at the date of acquisition. The cost of non-current assets constructed by the Shire includes the cost of all materials used in construction, direct labour on the project and an appropriate proportion of variable and fixed overheads.

KEY INFORMATION

Borrowing costs are recognised as an expense when incurred except where they are directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset. Where this is the case, they are capitalised as part of the cost of the particular asset until such time as the asset is substantially ready for its intended use or sale.

Fair values of borrowings are not materially different to their carrying amounts, since the interest payable on those borrowings is either close to current market rates or the borrowings are of a short term nature. Non-current borrowings fair values are based on discounted cash flows using a current borrowing rate.

KEY INFORMATION

Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Shire has a present legal or constructive obligation, as a result of past events, for which it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will result and that outflow can be reliably measured. Provisions are measured using the best estimate of the amounts required to settle the obligation at the end of the reporting period.

Employee Related Provisions

Short-term employee benefits

Provision is made for the Shire's obligations for short-term employee benefits. Short-term employee benefits are benefits (other than termination benefits) that are expected to be settled wholly before 12 months after the end of the annual reporting period in which the employees render the related service, including wages, salaries and sick leave. Short-term employee benefits are measured at the (undiscounted) amounts expected to be paid when the obligation is settled. The Shire's obligations for short-term employee benefits such as wages, salaries and sick leave are recognised as a part of current trade and other payables in the calculation of net current assets.

Other long-term employee benefits

The Shire's obligations for employees' annual leave and long service leave entitlements are recognised as employee related provisions in the statement of financial position.

Long-term employee benefits are measured at the present value of the expected future payments to be made to employees. Expected future payments incorporate anticipated future wage and salary levels, durations of service and employee departures and are discounted at rates determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds that have maturity dates that approximate the terms of the obligations. Any remeasurements for changes in assumptions of obligations for other long-term employee benefits are recognised in profit or loss in the periods in which the changes occur. The Shire's obligations for long-term employee benefits are presented as non-current provisions in its statement of financial position, except where the Shire does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least 12 months after the end of the reporting period, in which case the obligations are presented as current provisions.

Contract liabilities

An entity's obligation to transfer goods or services to a customer for which the entity has received consideration (or the amount is due) from the customer.

Capital grant/contribution liabilities

Grants to acquire or construct recognisable non-financial assets to identified specifications be constructed to be controlled by the Shire are recognised as a liability until such time as the Shire satisfies its obligations under the agreement.

REPORT PURPOSE

For Council to consider the Shire of East Pilbara ("the Shire") budget review as at 31 March 2024.

BACKGROUND

The Shire's 2023/24 Annual Budget was adopted at the Ordinary Council Meeting held on 20 June 2023.

At the 25 August 2023 Ordinary Council Meeting, report 11.2.1 Budget Review as at 30 July 2023 introduced prior year 2022-2023 carry forward project expenditure and associated grant income not yet spent or received, as an amendment to the current 2023-2024 financial year annual budget.

Additionally at the 25 January 2024 Special Council Meeting, report 8.2 Award of Tender – WEQ 03-2022/23 – ERP Software Replacement introduced additional budget amendment to cover the expected costs for the new Open Systems Technology (Council First) ERP.

Subsequent monthly financial reports to Council have also adopted further minor consequential amendments as they arise. This approach maintains a timely and responsive practice towards managing the Shire’s annual budget and its forecast year end net surplus / deficit.

At the 22 March 2024 Ordinary Council Meeting, report 11.3.1 Budget Review as at 29 February 2024 brought in $1,130,636 surplus as an amendment to the current 2023-2024 financial year annual budget. This arose from an organisation wide review of the shire operations where we recognised a significant savings across key areas while recognising additional targeted expenditure.

After close off for the March Budget review, it became clear there were new income amounts and further strategic expenditure.

COMMENTS/OPTIONS/DISCUSSIONS

The April 2024 Budget amendment reflects the following changes in shire activity:

The proposed budget review:

- Introduces a prior year 2023-2024 closing surplus from the March 2024 Budget Review of $4,441,026
- Increases in Operational Income of $886,546 against current budget
Primarily, this was due to an increase in interim rates of $813,696. This was mostly due to two new transitional workers accommodation (ie “mining camps”).
- Increase in Material and Contracts of $1,065,471 against current budget
This is due primarily to new assessment on sewerage farm maintenance costs $400k), additional housing costs ($365k), new ICT review & improvement initiatives ($170k) and additional relocation & training costs ($130k)
- Increase in Transfers from Reserves of $250,000 against current budget.
This is a transfer from Martumilli Infrastructure Project Reserve of $250,000 to cover the cost of Kunawarratji Field Officer Staff Housing
- The budgeted 30 June 2024 forecast position of $4,512,101 is budgeted to carry forward to the 2024/2025 financial year.

REPORT PURPOSE

For Council to consider the draft differential rating model for the 2024-2025 financial year for the purpose of advertising and seeking public submissions in accordance with the Local Government Act 1995 ("the Act").

BACKGROUND

Council typically adopts the Shire of East Pilbara ("the Shire") Annual Budget in June each year. A required component of the setting the budget is the consideration of rate revenue for the year to meet the estimate of the budget deficiency.

It is proposed to continue with differential rating in accordance with section 6.36 of the Act.

Council is required to consider the Shire's differential rates, and have these advertised, prior to adoption of the budget. This report establishes a targeted rating amount towards the drafting of the 2024-2025 annual budget, to advertise for community and ratepayer feedback. The actual rating levels that will be adopted may differ to those advertised.

COMMENTS/OPTIONS/DISCUSSIONS

Budget Strategy

The development of the 2024-2025 budget has been undertaken consistent with previous years and aims to:

- Raise sufficient rates income to maintain current services and future infrastructure renewal to meet community expectations in a sustainable and responsible manner.
- Fund new capital works for the benefit of the community; and
- Achieve a balanced budget.

2024-2025 Forecast

As part of the process towards drafting the 2024-2025 annual budget, the Shire's operating expenditure has been forecast towards maintaining current levels of service to ratepayers and the community, along with planned capital works and funding for Shire reserves established towards meeting future needs.

Rating Strategy

In determining the 2024-2025 differential rates model, Council seeks to uphold the rating principals of objectivity, consistency, transparency, equity and efficiency while maintaining its approach to apportioning the rating burden across landowners in the district.

The level of rating increase has been arrived at after consideration of:

- Overall operational requirements in order to provide the expected service delivery across all functions of Council
- Proposed capital works program to improve facilities and amenities for the benefit of the region
- Inflationary trends and conditions
- Additional regional pricing impacts in the Pilbara: and
- Parity with other local governments in the Pilbara

Rating Apportionment

The estimated income in 2024-25 from differential rating is $35.752M and will be achieved by the application of an average increase of 7.7% across property categories.

The following model maintains a comparative rating burden distribution across existing rating categories.

	2024-2025			2023-2024
	Minimum	Rate in $	Total income	Minimum	Rate in $	Total income
Gross Rental Valuation
Residential	$ 1,185	0.070220	$ 4,469,772	$ 1,100	0.0652	$ 4,167,156
Non-residential	$ 1,400	0.070220	$ 1,715,544	$ 1,300	0.0652	$ 1,574,421
Transient Workers Accommodation	$ 1,400	0.140440	$ 6,362,890	$ 1,300	0.1304	$ 4,929,968
Unimproved Valuation
Pastoral	$ 1,400	0.175443	$ 1,871,265	$ 1,300	0.1629	$ 1,734,709
Mining/other	$ 1,400	0.350887	$ 21,029,105	$ 1,300	0.3258	$ 18,303,477
Mining Prospecting	$ 915	0.319977	$ 303,511	$ 850	0.2971	$ 248,095
Forecast rates income			$ 35,752,087			$ 30,957,826

Comparative Charges and Increases

Achieving parity for rate in the dollar and minimum charges with other Pilbara local governments, requires larger rating increases in the short-term, then more gradual and consistent increases in following years.

- 2021 – 2022 50.0%
- 2022 – 2023 30.0%
- 2023 – 2024 8.0%
- 2024 – 2025 7.7%

POLICY IMPLICATIONS

DLGSC Rating Policy: Differential Rates

STRATEGIC COMMUNITY PLAN

5: Governance

5 Vibrant local democracy, forward-thinking civic leadership, and transparent stewardship of the community's assets and resources.

5.1 Continued focus on good governance, transparency and community and stakeholder engagement in significant decisions, including place-based plans.

RISK MANAGEMENT CONSIDERATIONS

Legislative – High

Council must consider its ability to fund expected outcomes in the Community Strategic Plan.

Rating provides for the net funding requirements of the Shire's services, activities, financing costs and the current and future capital requirements, after taking into account all other forms of revenue. As the costs incurred to provide services and infrastructure increases overtime, so does the need for and pressure towards raising rates to support the Shire's long-term financial sustainability.

Objects and Reasons

In accordance with section 6.36 of the Local Government Act 1995 (the Act), the Shire of East Pilbara (the Shire) is required to publish its Objects and Reasons for implementing Differential Rates.

1. Introduction

Rates are a tax levied on all rateable properties within the boundaries of the District of East Pilbara in accordance with the Act. The overall objective of the proposed rates for the drafting of the Shire's 2024 - 2025 Annual Budget is to provide towards the net funding requirements for provision of the Shire's services, activities, financing costs, current and future capital requirements. Consideration of the required rates yield forecast is after taking into account all revenue sources, expenditure and efficiency measures as part of budget deliberations.

2. Rating Strategy 2021 - 2026

The Shire's rating strategy establishes a framework to address the following key elements:

- a) That the basis of valuation for rating purposes continues to be the independently determined Gross Rental Value (GRV) and Unimproved Value (UV) method.

 Landgate values all properties in the State independently.*

- b) Recognise the individual characteristics of land use as the basis for differentially rating properties within the Shire.

- Residential
- Non-Residential
- Transient Workers Accommodation
- Pastoral
- Mining - prospecting
- Mining / Other

 The use of differential rating is considered a means to achieve greater uniformity in annual rate revenue apportionment across property types, being subject to fluctuations in their triennial revaluation reviews.*

- c) To maintain transparency and consistency each year in annual rating.

 The Shire charges separately for rates, waste, sewerage and Emergency Services Levy (ESL).*

- d) That electronic communication methods are more efficient and effective.

 Sustainable, cost effective and a digital Shire.*

2.1 Overall Objective

Achieving comparative rating consistency with neighbouring local governments in the short-term will support the Shire's long-term financial sustainability. Following with a gradual and consistent approach towards future increasing rates, avoids the need to raise rates outside of an acceptable range and or comparison over the long-term.

This includes lifting minimal rate charges across all existing rating categories, without the use of rating concessions.

2.2 Basis of Rating

The basis for calculating Shire rates is the Gross Rental Value (GRV) or Unimproved Value (UV) provided for each individual property independently by the Valuer General's Office (Landgate). Properties are grouped according to Town Planning Scheme zonings and predominant land use within each having a separately calculated rate in the dollar and minimum charge to achieve greater equity across all categories.

2.3 Key Values

The key values contained within the Department of Local Government Sport and Cultural Industries Rating Policy Differential Rates (s.6.33) March 2016 are as follows, being:

- Objectivity

The predominant use of land should determine the basis for an objective assessment of relevant criteria. External parties should be able to understand how and why a determination was made.

- Fairness & Equity

Rating principles should be applied fairly and equitably. Each property should make a fair contribution to rates based on a method of valuation appropriately reflecting predominant use.

- Consistency

Rating principles should be applied and determinations should be made in a consistent manner. Similar properties should be treated in a similar manner. The rating approach taken within neighbouring local governments shall be taken into account.

- Transparency and efficiency

Systems and procedures for determining the method of valuation of land should be clearly documented and available for the public to inspect. This is fundamental to the "good government" principle upon which the Act is based. The right to govern accompanies the obligation to do so openly and fairly.

3. Revenue Requirements

Council has reviewed its available revenues and expenditure requirements and considered efficiency measures as part of its budget deliberations. The key points for the drafting of the 2024 - 2025 annual budget being to:

- Raise sufficient rates income to maintain current services and future infrastructure renewal to meet community expectations in a sustainable and responsible manner.
- Fund new capital works for the benefit of the community; and
- Achieve a balanced budget.

The table below details the proposed rate in the dollar and minimum amounts for each differential rating category of the recommended 2024 – 2025 rating model:

	2024-2025			2023-2024
	Minimum	Rate in $	Total income	Minimum	Rate in $	Total income
Gross Rental Valuation
Residential	$ 1,185	0.070220	$ 4,469,772	$ 1,100	0.0652	$ 4,167,156
Non-residential	$ 1,400	0.070220	$ 1,715,544	$ 1,300	0.0652	$ 1,574,421
Transient Workers Accommodation	$ 1,400	0.140440	$ 6,362,890	$ 1,300	0.1304	$ 4,929,968

Pastoral	$ 1,400	0.175443	$ 1,871,265	$ 1,300	0.1629	$ 1,734,709
Mining/other	$ 1,400	0.350887	$ 21,029,105	$ 1,300	0.3258	$ 18,303,477

Forecast rates income			$ 35,752,087			$ 30,957,826

4. Differential Rating

Section 6.33 of the Act provides local governments with the option of implementing differential rates. The Shire's 2024 – 2025 rating will be based on land use, being;

- GRV - Residential
- GRV - Non-residential
- GRV - Transient workforce accommodation
- UV - Pastoral / Special Lease
- UV - Mining / Other
- UV - Mining / Prospecting

The objects and reasons for differential rate charges are as follows;

4.1 GRV - Residential

This incorporates residential single dwellings, duplex, multi-unit and strata improved properties.

 To ensure that the proportion of total rate revenue derived from residential properties remains essentially consistent with previous years and also includes the ongoing* maintenance and service provision of Shire assets and services primarily used by residential ratepayers. This will ensure a reasonable contribution to the cost of local government services and facilities available to residents.

4.2 GRV – Non-residential

This incorporates all light industry, general industry, commercial including hotel/motel and mixed use properties.

 To ensure that the proportion of total rate revenue derived from non-residential properties remains essentially consistent with previous years and to recognise the additional costs of servicing these types of properties. Non-residential properties generate higher volumes of pedestrian and traffic movements than residential properties which results in increased road and streetscape maintenance requirements, additional on street parking needs and the requirement to install additional traffic treatments. Due to the increased presence of litter surrounding non-residential land the Shire is also required to provide additional litter collection services to these areas. Patrons and employees of commercial and industrial premises are consumers of Shire services but unless they are also property owners within the Shire, are not contributing to the cost of services which they use. No concessions are intended.*

4.3 GRV – Transient Workforce Accommodation (TWA)

This incorporates all mass accommodation facilities provided for a workforce that is not permanently located within the district.

 To ensure rates are distributed equitably across property used for residential and non-residential workers. Temporary workers are consumers of Shire services but unless they are also property owners within the Shire, are not contributing to the cost of services which they use. Mass accommodation properties have the potential to have a greater impact on Shire services and assets than other property types due to their number of occupants in a relatively small land parcel.*

4.4 UV – Pastoral

This incorporates all properties issued with pastoral leases granted by the State Government.

OR does not have the characteristics of any other UV differential rate category.

 To ensure rates are reflective of the level of service utilised by ratepayers in this category and further reflects the additional costs associated with gravel road maintenance albeit to a lesser extent than that of mining.*

4.5 UV – Mining / Other

This incorporates mining tenements, permits, drilling reservations, leases or licenses held, extracting, stock piling, processing or refining of minerals and the extraction, processing or refining of fuel sources, and any other land use, not including prospecting tenements.

 To ensure rates are reflective of the ongoing costs involved in maintaining the road network across broad Shire boundaries, and towards supporting regional communities.*

4.6 UV – Mining Prospecting

This incorporates all mining prospecting tenements, as defined under the Mining Act 1978 s.40 to 56 as prospecting land use.

 The rate in the dollar and minimum charge are comparatively lower than UV Mining / Other, due to having a lesser impact upon the road network, and their operations may not be intended as commercially income-producing.*

5 The Application of a Minimum Rate

The Act allows councils to impose a minimum rate. The effect is to increase the rates payable by lower valued properties so that every ratepayer makes a minimum contribution considered equitable to the cost of the services and infrastructure provided, commensurate with other local governments.

6 Submissions Invited

Submissions are invited from all electors, ratepayers and our community with respect to the proposed rates and any related matter, within 21 days of the date of this notice.

Submissions should be addressed to the Chief Executive Officer, Shire of East Pilbara, PMB 22, NEWMAN WA 6753 or emailed to admin@eastpilbara.wa.gov.au and clearly marked Submission – Differential Rating 2024- 2025.

REPORT PURPOSE

The purpose of this report is to consider a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the two parties, namely, the Shire of East Pilbara (referred to as "Shire") and the Marble Bar Race Club (referred to as "Race Club"), to operate the Marble Bar Sporting Complex specifically for the Marble Bar Races event held annually.

BACKGROUND

The Shire and Race Club collaboration in the East Pilbara, as outlined in the MOU from July 21, 2024, to 2029, represents a significant milestone for delivering an iconic event in Marble Bar. Originating in 1893, the Marble Bar Races have been a cornerstone of the local community, with the Marble Bar Race Club hosting a central role in the organisation and execution of the event. Over the years, this event has grown, drawing racing enthusiasts and spectators across Australia and establishing itself as a fixture on the national racing calendar.

Renowned as a highlight of the Pilbara's cultural landscape, the Marble Bar Races contribute substantially to the region's economic benefits. The increased visitation during the event period significantly boosts local businesses, ranging from accommodations to eateries and shops.

Furthermore, beyond its economic impact, the races serve as a platform for showcasing the Pilbara's rich cultural heritage. Attendees are immersed in the region's history, culture, and landscape, fostering a deeper appreciation for its unique identity and attracting sustained interest in tourism.

COMMENTS/OPTIONS/DISCUSSION

The MOU will create a framework between the two parties, fostering ongoing collaboration to ensure the successful continuation of the Marble Bar Races. It also emphasises the importance of providing essential support to maintain state-of-the-art facilities associated with the races. By formalising this collaboration, both parties will work together to ensure the necessary resources and upkeep of relevant facilities are allocated for the event's success.

The MOU outlines the specific roles and obligations of both the Shire and Race Club in organising the Marble Bar Races for the upcoming five-year period. Presented below are the proposed tasks assigned to each party for the successful delivery of the event.

REPORT PURPOSE

The purpose of this report is to note a submission the Shire has developed for the Commissioner of Children and Young People in response to the Youth Justice Discussion Paper.

BACKGROUND

The Commissioner for Children and Young People (CCYP) undertakes projects, commissions research, publishes reports, and hosts events to highlight specific aspects of children and young people's wellbeing. Using research and the other evidence available, the Commissioner seeks to positively influence legislation, policy, services and attitudes. Under the Commissioner for Children and Young People Act 2006, the Commissioner:

- is independent and reports to the Parliament of Western Australia;
- is an advocate for all children and young people aged less than 18 years of age in WA;
- must always act in the best interests of children and young people;
- is required to give priority to the interests and needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children and young people and to those who are vulnerable or disadvantaged; and
- must have regard to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child.

A Joint Standing Committee monitors the work of the Commissioner's office and tables its own reports to Parliament to outline their views and findings.

The Commissioner monitors developments in legislation, policies and practices in areas impacting children and young people across Western Australia.

Four key areas include youth justice, health and mental health, education and child protection.

The Commissioner has four policy statements outlining its position on each of these areas and recently released a series of discussion papers for feedback to help advocate for the best outcomes for children and young people across WA. A copy of the Youth Justice in Western Australia Discussion Paper is attached as Appendix 1 to this report.

COMMENTS

On 7 March 2024, the Shire hosted a Youth Justice engagement session with the Newman Interagency Network, with 29 representatives attending from state and local government in addition to non-government organisations and service providers including youth specific organisations to assist in the development of a submission on the CCYP discussions paper on youth justice.

The five themes and sub-questions laid out in the CCYP's Discussion Paper, was the structure for the conversations on the day.

The five themes are:

- Early intervention, prevention, diversion and support.
- Providing children and young people with specifically designed services and supports, ensuring they are treated differently to adults.
- Approaches that privilege relationships and engagement.
- Therapeutic, trauma-informed approaches.
- Review and reform: Legislation, policies and practices.

Under each theme there are sub-theme questions.

All present were united in wanting to improve outcomes for young people in the District, particularly those who are at risk of, or already involved in the criminal justice system.

The questions in the CCYP discussion paper Youth Justice in Western Australia formed the basis of the discussion, and the level of engagement was very high.

There was broad agreement with the ideas set out in the CCYP Youth Discussion Paper and Policy Statement as well as the Blueprint for a Better Future, and strong support for holistic responses across systems to wrap support around children, young people and their families.

As a result of the stakeholder engagement two reports have been developed.

1. A Submission to CCYP on Youth Justice (Appendix 2)

The submission provides a journey map to demonstrate the current difficulties and the opportunities for improvement in the local context of East Pilbara. Although some circumstances might be unique, it is likely that many of the issues will be common to remote communities across Western Australia. It provides responses to the questions in the discussion paper, and draws on local challenges and opportunities for improvement.

2. Detailed findings and potential local responses from the Interagency Network on Youth Justice (Appendix 3)

The detailed findings captured feedback from stakeholders on current difficulties and opportunities moving forward in regards to each of the five themes.

The following provides an example of some of the identified opportunities discussed during the consultation.

Theme 1: Early intervention, prevention, diversion and support.

- Trauma-informed training across the sector. Lobby for fully funded Child and Adolescent Mental Health.
- Health Team at Western Australia Country Health Service (WACHS). Develop a mentor program, identify older teens that have lived experience in the criminal justice system.
- Youth Advisory Committee, First Nations children and young people are appropriately supported to engage in structured sport.
- Funding for prevention and proactive intervention required.

Theme 2: Providing children and young people with specifically designed services and supports, ensuring they are treated differently to adults.

- Promote the research on child brain development to inform practices. Bring back youth policing roles (no longer in WA).
- Person-centred care with holistic family inclusion. Include cultural and family inclusion and world view.
- On country camps.

Theme 3: Approaches that privilege relationships and engagement.

- Invest in staff development and infrastructure, raise the standard of required qualifications in the youth justice sector, team of Social Workers.
- Change the services system from punitive to trauma informed.

Theme 4: Therapeutic, trauma-informed approaches.

- This requires the will for systems change and investment.
- Requires high level champion, training, funding.
- Need holistic approach to develop trauma informed care and trauma informed services systems.
- Advocate to state government, use examples where it has worked.

Theme 5: Review and reform: Legislation, policies and practices.

- Age of criminal responsibility needs to be consistent/align with other states.
- Child Safe standards to be implemented.
- Mandatory reporting.
- Have an advisory board or similar to capture First Nations diversity – a cultural authority. Make use of restorative justice approaches.
- Legislation to be reviewed.

Both documents have been submitted to the CCYP and the Interagency Network, and will inform local responses, future advocacy and contribute to the development of the Shire's Youth Plan.

The Shire has provided a copy of the submission to the Commissioner for Children and Young People. It is recommended that Council notes the submission.

OPTIONS

1. That Council notes the submission as recommended; or
2. That Council withdraws the submission.

STATUTORY IMPLICATIONS/REQUIREMENTS

Consistent with section 2.7(2)(b) the Local Government Act 1995.

POLICY IMPLICATIONS

No known policy implications.

STRATEGIC COMMUNITY PLAN

2: Social

- 2 Safe, connected and family-friendly communities where all people thrive, and have their needs met at all ages and stages of life.
 - 2.1 Advocacy, partnerships and delivery of children's, family and young people's services.
 - 2.2 Advocate for the improved provision of health and education services

2.3 Advocacy and partnerships for addressing issues impacting safety of communities, and improving information sharing and coordination.

2.4 Promote healthy and safe lifestyle choices, and uphold public health and safety.

RISK MANAGEMENT CONSIDERATIONS

Low risk: There is a reputational risk associated with this item because it may be perceived that the views represented are solely of the Shire. This is mitigated with clarity that the submission is based on a stakeholder consultation and engagement. The submission showcases the strong collaboration between the Shire and local agency who are working together to improve outcomes for community.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

The operational budget deliberations captured the Shire's financial contribution to the stakeholder engagement and submission development.

Introduction

The role of the Commissioner for Children and Young People

The Commissioner for Children and Young People is an independent statutory officer who provides reports to the Parliament of Western Australia, relating to the three key platforms outlined in the Commissioner for Children and Young People Act 2006 (WA):

- promoting the rights, voices and contributions of children and young people
- monitoring and advocating to strengthen the wellbeing of all WA children and young people
- prioritising the needs of Aboriginal, disadvantaged and vulnerable children and young people.

In addition, the Commissioner is required to have regard to the 'United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child'. In undertaking these functions, the Commissioner engages with, and encourages the participation of, children and young people in decision-making by the Commissioner. The Commissioner is also required to work in cooperation with, and consult with, other government and non-government agencies. This includes the development of guidelines for government and non-government agencies regarding the participation by children and young people in decisions which affect them.

Youth Justice: A national priority

The criminal justice system can have a profound impact on children and young people, who are especially vulnerable to the harmful effects that arise from contact with the system. For this reason, youth justice has been a priority area for each Commissioner since the establishment of the office in 2007.

In recent times, the focus of youth justice has often been on children and young people in detention, and the increased risks and incidents occurring which impact the physical, social, cultural and emotional wellbeing of detainees. When in detention, which should be used as a last resort, the rights of children and young people must be adhered to, and to therapeutic, rehabilitative approaches must inform the operation of youth detention centres.

While the needs of children and young people in detention are of great importance, a whole of system reform is needed – one that holistically responds to the needs of children and young people and their families and prioritises the reduction of the numbers of children and young people in detention.

While there is an urgent need to reform the detention system, it is critical that the approach to youth justice moves to a focus on how to engage early with children and young people and divert them away from incarceration. This requires a whole of Government approach with coordinated approaches. Programmatic responses are not achieving the best outcomes and a system response and approach is required.

There are ways forward in youth justice. Multiple reports from the Office of the Inspector of Custodial Services have identified the problems and potential solutions to youth detention in Western Australia.¹ Social Reinvestment WA has developed a well-researched, evidence-informed 'Blueprint for a Better Future - Paving the Way for Youth Justice Reform in Western Australia' (the Blueprint), whose call for significant whole of system change has yet to be responded to by State Government.²

The Commissioner advocates for a changed approach to youth justice that hears the voices of children and young people and families affected by the system. Their voices are clear: the current approach is not good enough.

What is needed is a holistic approach to youth justice that utilises early intervention and prevention approaches; supports community and family-led initiatives; privileges rehabilitation and restorative justice measures over punishment and ensures the wellbeing of children and young people, who often have complex and intersecting needs. Children's voices must be central in informing all aspects of youth justice reform.

Legislative reform is an important step, but such reform cannot be made in isolation from reforming approaches, practices, and policies. We must rebuild the foundations of a broken youth justice system, and do so in partnership with children, families and their communities.

Setting

In accordance with Article 40 of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of the Child, Western Australian children and young people who have contact with the youth justice system have the right to be treated in a manner consistent with the promotion of the child's sense of dignity and worth. Such treatment should reinforce the child's respect for the human rights and fundamental freedoms of others, taking into account their age, and their reintegration into society in a positive and constructive way.³ Such provisions should be adhered to and inform the treatment of youth justice issues on a domestic level.

Youth justice is a particular area of concern for the Commissioner's office. In Western Australia, children as young as 10 years old can be found guilty of a criminal offence and placed in youth detention.⁴ Mainstream diversion practices are ineffective at diverting children and young people and lack accountability.⁵ Youth detention centres are in crisis, and the lives and wellbeing of children and young people are at risk.⁶ More than half of children and young people who have been released from sentenced supervision return within 12 months.⁷ A review of the Young Offenders Act 1994 (YOA) has been a noted priority of successive governments and has yet to occur. This evidence shows that the current Western Australian youth justice system is failing children and young people at every juncture.

The Blueprint identifies many of the key risks for youth offending and antisocial behaviour, many of which are related to socio-economic disadvantage; unstable family environments, education disengagement, homelessness, mental illness, and disability. The overlap between young people in the youth justice system and the child protection system is significant – in Australia, more than half of young people who had been in youth justice supervision (53%) also had an interaction with the child protection system in the last five years.⁸ Of similar concern is the link between disengagement from education and increased contact with the youth justice system, which is well established in the literature.⁹

There is also significant prevalence of intellectual and cognitive disabilities and neuro-divergence among those involved with youth justice services. In 2018, research in Western Australia showed that 89 per cent of the children detained had severe neuro-developmental disability or cognitive challenges and 36 per cent were diagnosed Foetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder.¹⁰ Often, children and young people are not diagnosed in a timely manner, and do not receive the necessary supports and services to assist them in living a life of nurture and care. The failure to recognise and support children with disabilities early in life can lead to the criminalisation of young people with complex support needs.¹¹

The Commissioner fully supports the principles outlined in the Blueprint that support a changed approach to youth justice. These principles include:

- community leadership and co-design
- holistic and therapeutic approaches
- data and evidence-driven proactive interventions
- accessible supports
- Aboriginal self-determination
- justice reinvestment
- transparent, accountable and anti-discriminatory systems.

The recommendations contained within the Blueprint provide a comprehensive overview of the steps required for change. These are also supported by the Commissioner.

The Commissioner’s Policy Statement: Youth Justice, identified key areas for reforming the approach to youth justice. Such an approach should emphasise:

- early intervention, prevention, diversion, and support
- rehabilitation, reintegration, and restorative approaches
- providing children and young people with specifically designed services and supports, ensuring they are treated differently to adults
- approaches that privilege relationships and engagement
- tailored responses for different cohorts
- therapeutic, trauma informed approaches.

‘mature out’ of crime. Further, there is strong evidence that contact with the youth justice system is harmful and increases the likelihood that a young person will have further contact in the future.¹² The damaging effects of system contact are magnified for those who spend time in custody where they are disconnected from positive influences including school, work, sport, culture and family.¹³

Pillar 2 of the Australia and New Zealand School of Government’s (ANZSOG) ‘Ten Pillars of Youth Justice’ is clear that diverting children and young people away from harmful system contact is crucial.¹⁴ This requires a focus on earlier intervention, prevention and diversion and alternative approaches, such as privileging the principles of minimum intervention and use of custody as a last resort.

“They [police] should be helping young children and stuff. Like helping them stay out of trouble, speak to them about what’s happening in their lives and stuff, not just picking them up, arresting them and stuff... Instead of sitting in the police station and saying nothing they should go out driving around in the car, checking if the kids are okay, speak to them and make them go back home early instead of just staying in town.”

Themes

Early intervention, prevention, diversion and support

Research shows that formally charging young people as a response to youth offending is not developmentally appropriate, and most young offenders

In particular, restorative justice approaches such as Victim-Offender mediation and Family Group Conferencing have been shown to have significant potential for reducing reoffending in young people.¹⁶ In Western Australia conferencing is available for young offenders, including Family Group Conferencing and Court Conferencing.¹⁷

The evidence outlined in the Australian Institute of Criminology's 'Restorative Justice in the Australian Criminal Justice System' demonstrates that restorative justice programs work "at least as well as formal criminal justice responses".¹⁸

Further, these approaches are consistently associated with increased youth and victim satisfaction with the criminal justice system, can help low risk cohorts avoid formal contact with the youth justice system, and provide an opportunity to involve family and community in the justice process.¹⁹

Increased use of restorative justice programs is consistent with the Young Offenders Act 1994 (YOA), which requires that the treatment of a young person who commits an offence that is not part of a well-established pattern of offending should seek to:

- avoid exposing the offender to associations or situations likely to influence the person to further offend; and
- encourage and help the family or other group in which the person normally lives to influence the person to refrain from further offending.²⁰

The YOA requires police to consider diverting young people who have committed less serious offences away from court.²¹ Police must also prefer to caution young people unless the young person's offending history or the offence makes it inappropriate to do so.²² Linking young people with the appropriate support services has occurred, however the lack of a case management, or a whole of family and system approach, has meant this often has little impact.

Young people on community-based orders have told the Commissioner these options were not adequate and there was a lack of available or appropriate supports and services to divert them from crime and into more positive behaviours.²³

A 'one size fits all' model of programs will not meet young people's diverse needs. A genuine spectrum of options more likely to support rehabilitation must be made available to youth,²⁴ such as diversion programs that address drug and alcohol rehabilitation, mental illness, or cultural healing.

Some diversion programs have been identified by as best practice in reducing the rate of youth incarceration in WA.²⁵ The Target 120 program provides individualised support for at risk young people as well as additional coordinated support for their families for a period of 12 months.²⁶ The Whitelion 'Deadly Diversions' program provides prolific and priority offenders referred from WA Police with intensive case management support and works to address the root causes of their offending through individualised support, mentoring, and social engagement activities.²⁷

While many programs have been shown to be effective in addressing rates of youth offending, piecemeal resourcing and service silos are currently preventing these best practice approaches from having a wide impact and reach in Western Australia.²⁸ It must be noted that all programs will work for some of the people, for some of the time – a one-size fits all approach does not work and that alternatives must be available to engage children and families to prevent further offending.

Questions: Early intervention, prevention, diversion and support

1. How can we improve approaches to holistic responses across the whole of government, and the service system, to children and young people at risk of offending?
2. How can justice reinvestment principles support improved outcomes from intervention, prevention, diversion and support programs?

3. In reviewing the Young Offenders Act 1994 (WA), what consideration needs to be given to strengthening approaches for early intervention, prevention, diversion and support to reduce the numbers of children and young people coming into contact with the youth justice system?
4. How can we engage with children and young people to ensure they are supported in resolving the issues that lead them to entering the youth justice system?
5. How can we ensure comprehensive approaches to rehabilitation and reintegration are implemented to prevent recurring engagement with the youth justice system?

Providing children and young people with specifically designed services and supports, ensuring they are treated differently to adults

Children and young people in contact with the youth justice system must be treated differently to adults. They have neurological and developmental vulnerabilities and continue to rely on adults in many cases for support in their development and growth.²⁹ The youth justice system needs to cater for these aspects. For this reason, youth justice would more appropriately be approached from a community services approach than the current approach of “children in jail”.

Engaging families is a crucial element to success of support services. The principles of family support and early intervention are embedded in the Blueprint, which emphasises prioritising of responsive support or early intervention for at-risk young people, and a whole-of-community approach that require collaboration between community services and government.³⁰

Indeed, children and young people have told the Commissioner that their family, friends, school and employment, community can strongly influence their desire to ‘do crime’:

“My family was all doing crime, but I got out, moved away from them. It’s hard to move away from them. You just gotta say, ‘no, you’re right, I don’t wanna do it.’ I feel bad saying it to them but I gotta just say to myself, ‘No, I don’t wanna do it no more, just do it yourself. I don’t wanna be your company no more’.”

The vital influence of families and communities must be acknowledged in early prevention approaches, which must work together with families and communities to enable them to develop their own solutions to preventing youth offending and reducing recidivism.

There is a lack of data in Australia about the effectiveness of prevention and early intervention programs that address youth offending. However, international research has shown that family support programs have been shown to reduce youth delinquency and antisocial behaviour.³²

Partnerships between schools, community agencies and families can strengthen child development, change school disciplinary practices and ultimately contribute to the prevention of youth offending.³³ Interventions with young people from over-represented cultural and ethnic groups are most effective when delivered in local settings and in active partnerships with community.³⁴

For Aboriginal children and young people, facilitating strong connections to family, community and country is essential.³⁵

While there is strong evidence to support community-led approaches, a piecemeal approach to resourcing, expanding and evaluating these solutions impacts their effectiveness.³⁶ A funding shift will be critical to ensure that all Western Australian children and young people are effectively cared for and supported by their communities.

Questions: Providing children and young people with specifically designed services and supports, ensuring they are treated differently to adults

1. How do we develop and implement wrap-around holistic whole of family programs across the early intervention, prevention, diversion space to ensure continuity of care for at risk children and young people?
2. How can we co-design solutions with children and young people with lived experience of the youth justice system so that we better meet their needs?
3. How do we improve government and service collaboration to ensure gaps in supports are minimised?
4. How might community policing approaches be reimaged to incorporate principles of early intervention and whole of family support into diversion practices?
5. How might youth justice models of community engagement support self-determination and partnerships with Aboriginal communities and Aboriginal Community Controlled Organisations?

Approaches that privilege relationships and engagement

The importance of privileging relationships and engagement in youth justice approaches cannot be understated.

In the early intervention space, strong engagement with school can be an important source of support for children and young people in diverting them from engagement in the youth justice system. In the Commissioner's School and Learning Consultation with almost 2,000 WA school students, school students identified quality interpersonal relationships – with friends, other students, teachers and other school staff and their families as the foundation for their engagement with education.³⁷ Opositely, studies have shown that factors such as low school grades, a lack of commitment to school, and a lack of opportunities for prosocial activity at school are significant risk factors for adolescent violent behaviour.³⁸ Suspension of such students not only fails to reduce antisocial behaviours, but may exacerbate students' alienation and detachment from the school community, and further antisocial and violent behaviour resulting in youth justice contact.³⁹

Such evidence demonstrates that relationships and engagements, or the lack thereof can be 'make or break' factors in preventing or increasing a child or young person's contact with the youth justice system. Children and young people highly value relationships that support them to engage in positive ways in all aspects of their lives, and provision of opportunities to build positive relationships with family, friends and others in their community can be a strong protective factor. However, falling in with peers or adults who encourage them to 'do crime' can impede their ability to gain support, and direct them down pathways of concern.

Engaging children and young people to develop effective initiatives that improve their wellbeing and future opportunities is critical to success of any approach.

In addition, it is important to support the development of Aboriginal-led solutions through engaging children and young people, community Elders and those with cultural authority, and their families, to identify opportunities for change that will have a positive impact on the future of children and young people.

An early intervention initiative that privileges relationships and engagement in practice is the 'Clean Slate Without Prejudice' program, a New South Wales grass roots community program designed to help Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander youth.⁴⁰ This program has been run in partnership between the Tribal Warrior Aboriginal Corporation and Redfern Police since 2009, and involves young people at risk of offending participate in boxing training three mornings each week with Aboriginal mentors and local police. The program was described as 'changing the way we interact with each other, the way policing happens, the way that police deal with Indigenous young offenders here, and with community-based policing.'⁴¹ The impact the program has had on the community has been profound, with youth robberies reducing by 80 per cent in the first year of the program's operation.⁴²

Approaches that privilege relationships and engagement must also be implemented in the youth detention space. Countless incidents at Banksia Hill Detention Centre have arisen out of children and young people feeling like their needs are not met and they are not being listened to, or treated with care and respect. Young people in detention have told my office that having the support of respectful workers helped them to make better choices.

"Good people just know how to get on the kids' level, help them...but don't pretend that you're trying to get along with them, just do get along with them, you know? You don't pretend it. [It's] just respect."

Imagine the possibilities if Youth Custodial Officers, psychologists, teachers and others working in youth detention were supported to engage in robust and safe relationships with children and young people in detention. This could be a key difference in the future trajectory of the child or young person and can influence their desire to reoffend.

Relationships are powerful. All proven youth justice interventions rely on quality relationships between staff and young people.⁴⁴ One-to-one connections are the foundation for change – youth justice practitioners must work with young people on challenges requiring their support in a consistent and dependable manner, prioritise respect and understanding for the young person's point of view; and focus on improving the situation.

If approaches to supporting change are to be sustained, youth justice staff – whether based in detention centres, or working in juvenile justice teams in community – must be able to build relationships with children and young people and their families. Listening to the voices of children and young people is crucial in understanding their needs, their worries and their hopes.

Questions: Approaches that privilege relationships and engagement

1. How do we support youth justice staff to build robust and safe relationships with children and young people?
2. What challenges might youth justice staff face in building relationships and positively engaging with children and young people?
3. What are the potential benefits of investing in training for staff to enable them to build quality relationships with children and young people experiencing significant trauma and disadvantage?
4. What support will children and young people require to engage in meaningful dialogue and activities with youth justice services and staff?
5. How can we encourage children and young people in detention to speak up or express their needs to Youth Custodial Officers?
6. What support do families need to build trust with their children, justice professionals and the justice system?

Therapeutic, trauma-informed approaches

As noted by the Royal Commission into the Protection and Detention of Children in the Northern Territory, '[i]n most jurisdictions, the young people who come into detention disproportionately come from disadvantaged backgrounds, have a high level of need for support and, at least, initially have behaviours that make them difficult to work with.'⁴⁵ In the system of youth justice generally, it is critical to recognise the individual needs of the child, particularly the evidence of significant disadvantage experienced by the majority of those who become involved in the system.

There is strong evidence that therapeutic interventions are more effective at reducing chronic reoffending by young people than those based on punishment or control,⁴⁶ including social skills training and cognitive behaviour therapy. Further, many children and young people may experience and express trauma in ways that can impede their ability to participate in treatment.⁴⁷ Trauma informed approaches should privilege predictability in routines, relationships and maximise young people's control over their daily choices, while also building in practitioners an understanding of the meaning and triggers of problem behaviour in children and young people.⁴⁸

It is essential that youth justice staff have training in understanding the symptoms and impact of trauma in young people's lives to enable them to respond accordingly. All children and young people entering the justice system – not just detention – must have comprehensive assessments to identify trauma, neuro-divergence and/or disability where relevant, and their treatment must be prioritised to ensure that support services can intervene early to provide children and young people with the necessary supports.

A more welfare-oriented approach to youth justice should prioritise community intervention and support rather than criminal justice intervention. This is especially the case for younger children, noting that early contact with the youth justice system can cause an increased likelihood of further offending, interruption to their education, and trauma and mental illness.⁴⁹ Further, the negative impacts of detention will disproportionately impact on already vulnerable children, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children and children with cognitive impairments.

In Western Australia, children as young as 10 years old can be charged and convicted of a criminal offence.⁵⁰

This is despite it being well documented that children and young people under the age of 14 (and potentially to a higher age depending upon cognitive, neuro-divergent and intellectual disabilities) do not have the necessary brain development necessary to understand consequential thinking or to manage their impulses.⁵¹

Research shows that children and young people under the age of 14:

- are less neurocognitively developed than adults which affects their decision-making capacities;
- lack impulse control and have higher levels of risk-taking behaviour; and
- often do not have a sufficiently mature understanding of knowing when something is seriously 'wrong' to be held culpable for their actions.⁵²

The current minimum age of criminal responsibility is not child centred and does not reflect the best interests of the child. Further, detaining children at that age is incompatible with a trauma informed approach, given the irreparable harm that detention can cause for younger children. Holistic approaches to prevention, diversion and rehabilitation must be prioritised for this younger cohort, and the life-long impacts of incarceration on brain development at such an early age must be guarded against.

In this context, the minimum age of criminal responsibility must, as a priority, be raised to at least 14 years of age. Immediate action should be taken to also raise the minimum age of detention to at least 14.

Questions: Therapeutic, trauma informed approaches

1. What are the impediments to building trauma-informed approaches into, and across, the span of the youth justice system?

2. What are the opportunities associated with implementing holistic trauma-informed approaches at all phases of the youth justice system?
3. How can we change detention practices to ensure the safety of both the staff and the children and young people?
4. What opportunities are available to ensure staff have quality training and development in understanding child and youth development and trauma?
5. What are the barriers identified for raising the minimum age of criminal responsibility in Western Australia?

Review and reform: Legislation, policies and practices

Reform of legislation, policies and practices to embed a more rehabilitative, reintegrative and restorative approach to youth justice across the system must be prioritised.

Legislation

The Young Offenders Act 1994 (WA) (YOA) is the primary legislation that provides for the administration of youth justice in Western Australia. The review of the YOA is long overdue and must address some of the most pressing issues with the youth justice system, such as the effectiveness of diversionary measures, overrepresentation of Aboriginal children and youth in the justice system, and youth detention practices.

The impending review of the YOA must also consider review of other legislation which impacts children and young people who have contact with youth justice, for example the Criminal Code Act 1913 (WA), the Bail Act 1982 (WA), and the Sentencing Act 1995 (WA).

Some aspects of the current youth justice legislative framework that are incompatible with a rehabilitative approach and require urgent review include:

- the current minimum age of criminal responsibility,
- the presence of mandatory sentencing provisions that apply to young people,
- the transfer of young people into adult prisons at 18 years of age, and
- use of solitary confinement in detention centres.

Youth detention policies and practices

In June 2023, the WA government announced a range of measures to enhance safety and welfare in youth detention.⁵³ Such included a review of infrastructure needs in WA's youth justice system and measures to increase staffing. A new operating philosophy and service model was also developed and is currently being implemented.

Nonetheless, during this period there have been serious, escalating events that have put staff and the detainees at great risk. A young person has died by suicide. These events demonstrate an urgent need for a change in approach and this also requires a change in policy and practice.

The evidence shows that traditional 'get tough' methods of reducing youth offending are costly and ineffective at reducing recidivism.⁵⁴ In 2021-2022, the WA Government spent $63 million on youth detention, with an average cost per person, per day of $1,460.⁵⁵ In 2020 – 2021, 73.67 per cent of young people who were released from detention returned to detention within 12 months. These statistics show that wholesale changes are required to see improved outcomes for the safety of the community safety, children and young people and youth justice staff.

Recent comments regarding Banksia Hill Detention Centre made by the Royal Commission into Violence, Abuse, Neglect and Exploitation of People with Disability show that the detention of children and young people is not improving community safety, and is significantly harming those detained, as well as causing harm to custodial staff.⁵⁶ This harm is contributed to by an over-reliance by youth detention centres on punishing young people for their actions⁵⁷ rather than encouraging their rehabilitation. This cannot be the case. Detention is the punishment and it is not a place to go be punished.

Practices that see children and young people confined to their cells for a significant portion of the day – up to 23 hours in many instances –⁵⁸ can only lead to further harm to children and young people who already have significant trauma and mental health issues. The negative behaviours of the children and young people in these circumstances are understandable. They have no control over their situation; they do not understand the reasons for the approaches they are subjected to; and often they do not have avenues that consistently support them in raising their concerns.

While complaints mechanisms are available, they are not necessarily child friendly or helpful. The Department of Justice must commit to embedding the National Child Safe Principles, particularly their principles around effective complaints management,⁵⁹ into the structure, policies, programs and practices in youth detention and in youth justice more broadly.

Questions: Review and reform:
Legislation, policies and practices

1. How can we ensure that the reforms committed to by the State Government – including the Operating Philosophy and Service Model and Model of Care in youth detention – are prioritised to minimise harm to children and young people?
2. How might the Young Offenders Act 1994 be amended to align with a holistic, rehabilitative, reintegrative and restorative approach to youth justice?
3. How can we embed the National Child Safe Principles into the youth justice service system?
4. What can be done to ensure the United Declaration the Rights of the Child is embedded into legislation, policy and practice in youth justice?
5. How can we embed a whole-of-system focus on early intervention, prevention, support, diversion and rehabilitation and re-integration into the legislation, policies, practices and programs available to children and young people who are at risk of or have contact with the youth justice system?

Shire of EAST
Pilbara
THE HEART OF THE PILBARA

Submission to Commission for Children and Young People in response to Youth Justice
Discussion Paper
March 2024

The Shire of East Pilbara acknowledges the Traditional Owners throughout this vast region and their continuing connection to the land, waters and community. We pay our respects to the members of these Aboriginal communities, their cultures and to their elders past, present and emerging.

Introduction

The Shire of East Pilbara is pleased to contribute to the discussion led by the Commissioner for Children and Young People regarding Youth Justice in Western Australia. Due to its unique geographic and demographic context, the Shire is keen to offer its perspective on the issues identified by the Commissioner, and to add its voice to the call for significant change in the way Youth Justice is administered in the state.

The Shire of East Pilbara is the largest Shire in Australia, covering approximately 372,571 square kilometres; larger than the state of Victoria. Driving will take two days to cross from east to west and six hours north to south. The main town sites are Newman, Marble Bar and Nullagine, with a number of Aboriginal Communities namely Jigalong, Punmu and Parngurr, Irrungadji and Parnpajinya along with several remote and town-based Aboriginal communities, including Jigalong, Punmu, Goodabinya, Irrungadji, Warralong, Parngurr, Kunawarritji and Kiwirrkurra.

As at 2021, the Shire of East Pilbara's population is 9,760. The Shire has substantial cultural diversity, with 17.9% of the population identifying as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander people and 21.6% of the population being born overseas. The area is heavily dependent on the mining and extractive industry for its economic activity and the last decade has seen a significant increase in the number of young, mining-focused Fly In-Fly Out (FIFO) workers in the greater Pilbara (400% increase since 2011)¹.

Health, education and income inequality is relatively high in the Pilbara, particularly among First Nations peoples who face considerable social and economic disadvantages, including an average life expectancy ten years shorter than that of non-First Nations residents.² There is ample data indicating that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander residents are facing challenges in accessing adequate healthcare, housing and other essential services.³

Discussion

Although the traditional owners and residents within the Shire are rightly proud of their beautiful and vibrant community, the tyranny of distance significantly impacts their health and wellbeing on a daily basis. Where government services are present, they are under-resourced and struggle to provide the level of accessibility, quality and collaboration that is optimal for individuals, families and communities to really thrive. Workers who provide these services are keenly aware of the difficulties and are often enormously personally invested in improving situations and outcomes for community.

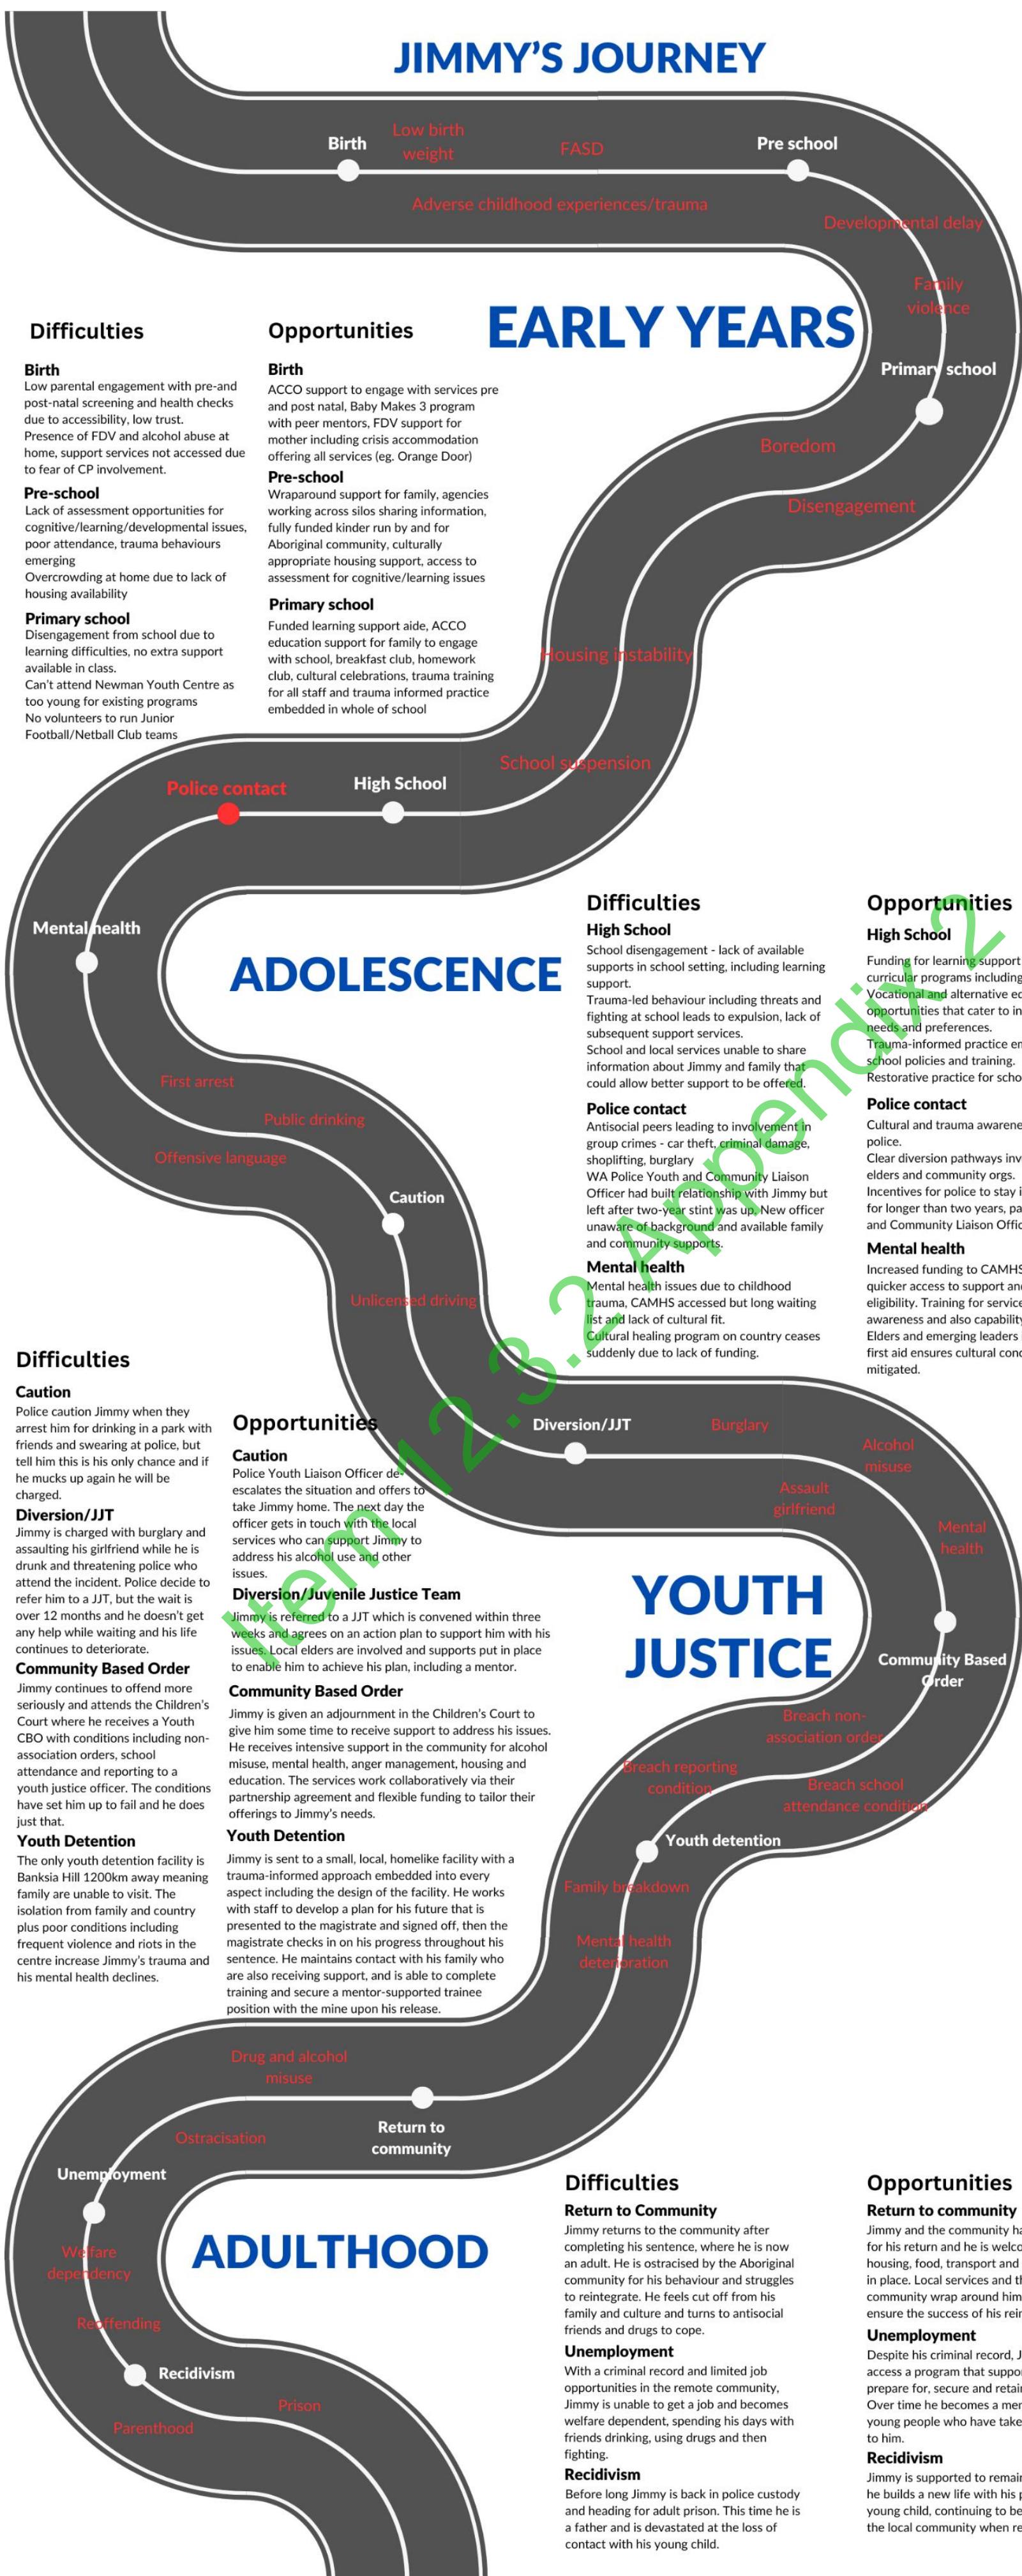

On 7th March 2024 East Pilbara Shire Council held a stakeholder engagement event at Newman attended by 29 representatives from state and local government in addition to non-government organisations and service providers including youth specific organisations. All present were united in wanting to improve outcomes for young people in the Shire, particularly those who are at risk of or already involved in the criminal justice system. The questions in the CCYP discussion paper Youth Justice in Western Australia formed the basis of the conversation on the day, and the level of engagement was very high.

There was broad agreement with the ideas set out in the CCYP Youth Discussion Paper and Policy Statement as well as the Blueprint for a Better Future, and strong support for holistic responses across systems to wrap support around children, young people and their families. This submission seeks to answer the questions in the discussion paper via the mechanism of a journey map to demonstrate the current difficulties and the opportunities for improvement in the local context of East Pilbara. Although some circumstances might be unique, it is likely that many of the issues will be common to remote communities across Western Australia.

JIMMY'S JOURNEY

EARLY YEARS

Difficulties

Birth
Low parental engagement with pre-and post-natal screening and health checks due to accessibility, low trust. Presence of FDV and alcohol abuse at home, support services not accessed due to fear of CP involvement.

Pre-school
Lack of assessment opportunities for cognitive/learning/developmental issues, poor attendance, trauma behaviours emerging
Overcrowding at home due to lack of housing availability

Primary school
Disengagement from school due to learning difficulties, no extra support available in class.
Can't attend Newman Youth Centre as too young for existing programs
No volunteers to run Junior Football/Netball Club teams

Opportunities

Birth
ACCO support to engage with services pre and post natal, Baby Makes 3 program with peer mentors, FDV support for mother including crisis accommodation offering all services (eg. Orange Door)

Pre-school
Wraparound support for family, agencies working across silos sharing information, fully funded kinder run by and for Aboriginal community, culturally appropriate housing support, access to assessment for cognitive/learning issues

Primary school
Funded learning support aide, ACCO education support for family to engage with school, breakfast club, homework club, cultural celebrations, trauma training for all staff and trauma informed practice embedded in whole of school

ADOLESCENCE

Difficulties

High School
School disengagement - lack of available supports in school setting, including learning support.
Trauma-led behaviour including threats and fighting at school leads to expulsion, lack of subsequent support services.
School and local services unable to share information about Jimmy and family that could allow better support to be offered.

Police contact
Antisocial peers leading to involvement in group crimes - car theft, criminal damage, shoplifting, burglary
WA Police Youth and Community Liaison Officer had built relationship with Jimmy but left after two-year stint was up. New officer unaware of background and available family and community supports.

Mental health
Mental health issues due to childhood trauma, CAMHS accessed but long waiting list and lack of cultural fit.
Cultural healing program on country ceases suddenly due to lack of funding.

Opportunities

High School
Funding for learning support aide and extra-curricular programs including sport and arts. Vocational and alternative education opportunities that cater to individual learning needs and preferences.
Trauma-informed practice embedded in school policies and training.
Restorative practice for school misbehaviour

Police contact
Cultural and trauma awareness training for all police.
Clear diversion pathways involving family, elders and community orgs.
Incentives for police to stay in the community for longer than two years, particularly Youth and Community Liaison Officers.

Mental health
Increased funding to CAMHS leading to quicker access to support and widening of eligibility. Training for service staff in cultural awareness and also capability building for Elders and emerging leaders in mental health first aid ensures cultural concerns are mitigated.

YOUTH JUSTICE

Difficulties

Caution
Police caution Jimmy when they arrest him for drinking in a park with friends and swearing at police, but tell him this is his only chance and if he mucks up again he will be charged.

Diversion/JJT
Jimmy is charged with burglary and assaulting his girlfriend while he is drunk and threatening police who attend the incident. Police decide to refer him to a JJT, but the wait is over 12 months and he doesn't get any help while waiting and his life continues to deteriorate.

Community Based Order
Jimmy continues to offend more seriously and attends the Children's Court where he receives a Youth CBO with conditions including non-association orders, school attendance and reporting to a youth justice officer. The conditions have set him up to fail and he does just that.

Youth Detention
The only youth detention facility is Banksia Hill 1200km away meaning family are unable to visit. The isolation from family and country plus poor conditions including frequent violence and riots in the centre increase Jimmy's trauma and his mental health declines.

Opportunities

Caution
Police Youth Liaison Officer de-escalates the situation and offers to take Jimmy home. The next day the officer gets in touch with the local services who can support Jimmy to address his alcohol use and other issues.

Diversion/Juvenile Justice Team
Jimmy is referred to a JJT which is convened within three weeks and agrees on an action plan to support him with his issues. Local elders are involved and supports put in place to enable him to achieve his plan, including a mentor.

Community Based Order
Jimmy is given an adjournment in the Children's Court to give him some time to receive support to address his issues. He receives intensive support in the community for alcohol misuse, mental health, anger management, housing and education. The services work collaboratively via their partnership agreement and flexible funding to tailor their offerings to Jimmy's needs.

Youth Detention
Jimmy is sent to a small, local, homelike facility with a trauma-informed approach embedded into every aspect including the design of the facility. He works with staff to develop a plan for his future that is presented to the magistrate and signed off, then the magistrate checks in on his progress throughout his sentence. He maintains contact with his family who are also receiving support, and is able to complete training and secure a mentor-supported trainee position with the mine upon his release.

ADULTHOOD

Difficulties

Return to Community
Jimmy returns to the community after completing his sentence, where he is now an adult. He is ostracised by the Aboriginal community for his behaviour and struggles to reintegrate. He feels cut off from his family and culture and turns to antisocial friends and drugs to cope.

Unemployment
With a criminal record and limited job opportunities in the remote community, Jimmy is unable to get a job and becomes welfare dependent, spending his days with friends drinking, using drugs and then fighting.

Recidivism
Before long Jimmy is back in police custody and heading for adult prison. This time he is a father and is devastated at the loss of contact with his young child.

Opportunities

Return to community
Jimmy and the community have been preparing for his return and he is welcomed back with housing, food, transport and other necessities in place. Local services and the Aboriginal community wrap around him seamlessly to ensure the success of his reintegration.

Unemployment
Despite his criminal record, Jimmy is able to access a program that supports him to prepare for, secure and retain a local job. Over time he becomes a mentor to other young people who have taken a similar path to him.

Recidivism
Jimmy is supported to remain crime free, and he builds a new life with his partner and young child, continuing to be supported by the local community when required.

Key themes

Conditions necessary for holistic, wraparound support responses:

- Resourcing and investment:

All stakeholders reported chronic underfunding issues affecting their ability to deliver services with the level of quality, flexibility and accessibility necessary to truly meet the needs of the community.

Examples of this include:

- Western Australia County Health Service (WACHS) adult mental health services are often staffed by visiting specialists from Hedland and Karratha. The adult mental health service offered at the Newman District Hospital frequently consists of medicating patients and a rapid discharge, reflecting the lack of residential mental health facilities/mental health beds, the nearest being in Perth. In some cases residents are flown to Perth to access community and in-patient services for people aged between 16 and 65 years affected by serious, complex mental illness. The WACHS Newman District Hospital is also supported by short term contracts and is subject to lack of continuity in service delivery, which is not best practice for mental health treatment. The service does provide case management in some situations, but not therapeutic interventions. The Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS) provides a similar service for children and young people however contracts are limited and there are often gaps in the local CAMHS workforce, a shortage of indigenous workers, and employees often limited in their knowledge of local indigenous community and trauma-informed practice.
- Family and domestic violence services are limited to the Newman Women's Shelter which can provide crisis accommodation for adult women and their children, with a maximum capacity of fifteen people. To protect women's safety and anonymity the Shelter prefers to register families experiencing violence from outside of Newman. Case management is provided, but unlike other metro and regional areas there is no sexual assault or family violence counselling from a qualified practitioner and there are no education or prevention strategies being delivered in Newman. Without funding for holistic educational interventions and prevention efforts aimed at breaking the cycle of family violence across the whole community, practitioners are well aware that their best efforts are simply band-aids.
- In local schools where students are rarely able to be screened for learning difficulties, developmental delays or conditions such as FASD due to insufficient funding and the availability of specialist staff. Where screening does occur, ongoing intensive support is often unable to be provided in the classroom due to funding and qualified staff availability. In the indigenous community of East Pilbara where neuro-developmental delay and FASD may often be experienced, in most cases these children are not attending school at all, and existing services appear to have limited success in implementing a whole of community approach to engaging children and young people in a culturally appropriate educational or alternative educational setting that welcomes and involves family members and elders.

- Youth justice, where one Youth Justice staff member has responsibility for the entire East Pilbara area, making it difficult to adequately case manage and support young people on community orders, increasing the likelihood of them failing to meet the conditions of their order and facing further sanctions.
- Aboriginal service providers, where promising programs making a positive difference in the lives of young people such as those on country providing cultural learning, healing and connection are suddenly defunded, leaving gaping holes in options for addressing the needs of Aboriginal young people needing support.
- The Shire's youth services, where funding and staffing are insufficient to run programs at the Youth Centre for younger children (7-10) who are already in need of support and beginning to demonstrate concerning behaviour, and where other programs and events are constantly limited in scope and numbers by funding and resource constraints.
- WA Police officers posted to the East Pilbara are often fairly new recruits with little experience or cultural competency in dealing with Aboriginal young people. Lack of resources impacts their ability to receive more specific training, and often when they have gained the on-the-ground experience and competency their two-year post is up and they move on.

- Trust within and between community and service providers

Stakeholders reported serious issues with lack of trust that impacts their ability to provide the support necessary to children and young people. This lack of trust operates on relationships at many levels:

- Between community members and government agencies (police, health, justice, education etc)
- Between Aboriginal organisations and government
- Between Aboriginal organisations and local service providers
- Between local service providers themselves
- Between local council and local service providers
- Between Aboriginal young people who have offended and the Aboriginal community

In many instances the lack of trust has well-founded historical origins related to colonialism, racism and government 'welfare' practices, however it can also relate to personalities, un-kept promises and competition for scarce resources. Inconsistent service delivery (associated with the challenges of attracting and retaining employees, and constantly operating with bare minimum staff) is also a well-founded contributor to local lack of trust in community services. Adapting service delivery to local needs is key for building trust, such as adopting an outreach approach that takes services to the community rather than expecting them to come to locations and spaces that might be inaccessible, culturally inappropriate and uncomfortable. Consistent pro-active efforts to build trust through well-considered communication, meeting community where they are, reflective structured dialogue and practice, and the creation of opportunities for increasing social cohesion will be a key ingredient for the delivery of successful holistic, wraparound support services and systems change in the East Pilbara and similar communities.

- Information sharing

Successfully wrapping holistic support around individuals and families requires government and service providers to have sufficient information readily available that allows them to assess the needs of the client/s without requiring the onerous repetition of the same information by those clients to multiple service providers.

Where government agencies have concerns about young people or families, they need to be able to share that information where relevant with those who are in a position to help. However, this needs to be tempered with serious safeguards respecting the privacy of individuals and families. This balance is often difficult to achieve but has been attempted in various jurisdictions via local panels such as Victoria's Better Connected Care model.

Keeping communication channels open between service providers is also dependent on trust, as per the previous point. Creating a forum where all stakeholders have a seat at the table to share how they will work together is a key element in improving approaches to supporting children and young people at risk of offending. Any forum such as this requires a governance structure that sets out clear roles and responsibilities, while allowing for flexibility to adapt to changing local circumstances.

Importance of trauma-informed everything:

We know that adverse childhood experiences and trauma symptoms are common to almost all young people involved in the criminal justice system⁴. These experiences have deep roots that can impact every aspect of a person's life, as illustrated below.⁵

⁴ Hannah N. Hamilton, Catia G. Malvaso, Andrew Day, Paul H Delfabbro & Louisa Hackett (2024) Understanding Trauma Symptoms Experienced by Young Men under Youth Justice Supervision in an Australian Jurisdiction, International Journal of Forensic Mental Health, DOI: 10.1080/14999013.2024.2323939

Often services, systems and even well-intentioned individuals can compound the effects of trauma for children and young people. There was an acknowledgement that trauma is held within communities as well as individuals and families, and this needs to be considered when planning and engaging with community. Our stakeholders told us they were very aware of the need for trauma-informed policies and practice to be embedded throughout the services they provide and the systems they work within. They want to provide trauma-informed care that acknowledges people have had traumatic experiences, and as a result may find it difficult to feel safe within services and to develop trusting relationships with service providers. They want to ensure their services are structured, organised and delivered in ways that promote safety and trust and aim to prevent re-traumatisation.⁶

Our stakeholders called for resources and opportunities for regular and high-quality training and capacity building across the sector, reinforced by a community of practice. There was also a recognition of the need to consider trauma in the physical design of spaces used by vulnerable young people and community members, particularly “justice” spaces such as interview rooms and “safe” spaces.

Local solutions led by community:

- Elevate the voice of young people, elders and community

Our stakeholders were clear on the need for everyone to listen to those for whom decisions are being made, particularly the idea of a Youth Advisory Board/Panel or similar mechanism to enable the youth voice to be heard and heeded. Similarly providing more opportunities for current and emerging Elders to be involved in discussions and decision-making, particularly relating to young people involved in the justice system was seen as desirable. There was an appetite for restorative justice approaches within East Pilbara along these lines, and also for a self-determination approach that enabled young people and their families to be more active participants in their youth justice plans and support plans more generally.

- Empower community to lead solutions

The issues present in the Shire of East Pilbara are not entirely unique, but they are particular to this community and the solutions are best found within the community. Empowering the community to work together at the place level to support children, young people and families to thrive and to solve the most pressing local challenges has the best chance of long-term success. A place-based youth crime prevention program operating in Victoria since 2016 has demonstrated success in reducing offending and improving protective factors for participants via partnerships between local agencies providing wraparound services and psychosocial support.

A well-resourced and supported, formal “bottom-up” justice reinvestment approach such as the Maranguka project in Bourke, NSW would be welcomed in the East Pilbara. In the absence of such and investment, a smaller collective impact approach utilising principles such as those in the Communities That Care model would be well-received. Even the small place-based Empowering Communities crime prevention program in Victoria has seen unique collaborations and projects based on priorities determined by the community and would be welcomed in the East Pilbara.

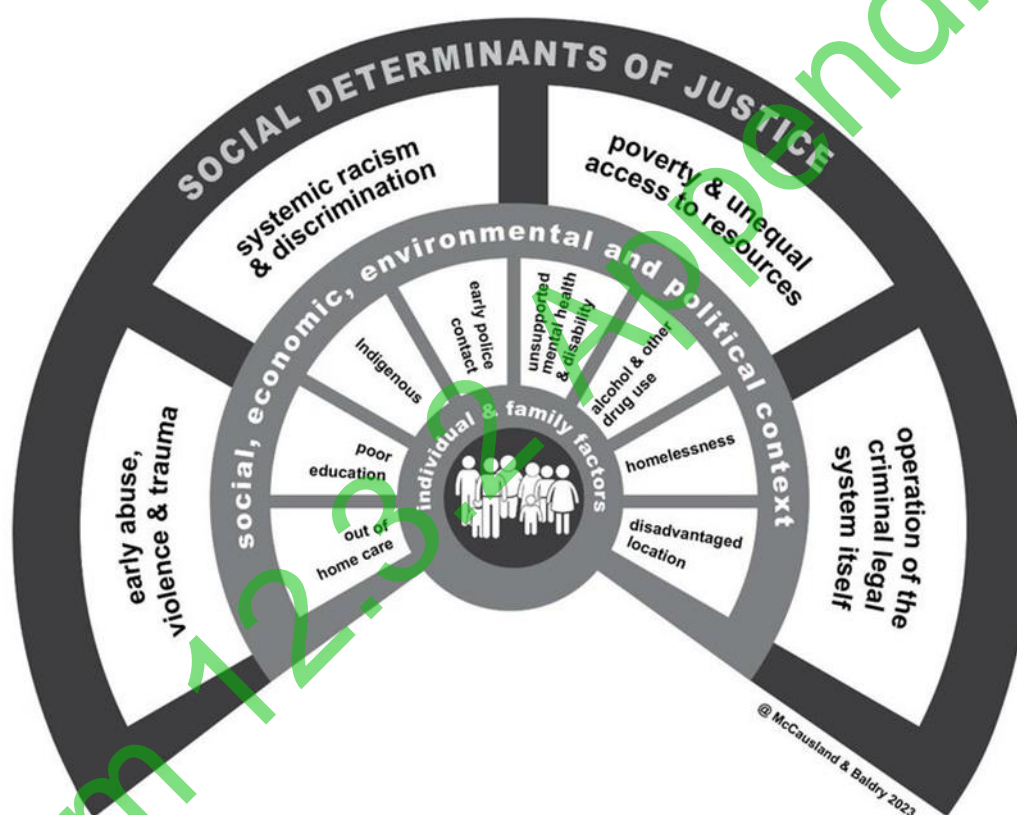

Social Determinants of Justice

We are keen to bring to your attention the recent work by Eileen Baldry and Ruth McCausland on the Social Determinants of Justice⁷. Drawing on the substantial literature around the Social Determinants of Health and reflecting the social ecological theoretical approach, their research has similarly identified a series of factors that significantly contribute to the likelihood of a person interacting with the criminal justice system (or criminal legal system as the authors call it). Essentially these are the “causes of the causes”: early abuse, violence and trauma, systemic racism and discrimination, poverty and unequal access to resources, and the operation of the criminal legal system itself (see diagram below).

⁷ McCausland, R. and Baldry, E. (2023) “Who does Australia Lock Up? The Social Determinants of Justice”, International Journal for Crime, Justice and Social Democracy, 12(3), pp. 37-53. DOI: <https://doi.org/10.5204/ijcisd.2504>

In this submission we have noted the risk factors affecting individuals and families in East Pilbara, and we see firsthand that where these accumulate the likelihood of justice involvement is higher. As McCausland and Baldry note, “working to address individual determinants without addressing the contextual factors and structural mechanisms contributing to socio-economic inequality will not address poor and unequal justice outcomes.

This is why short-term, diversionary programs that do not provide, for example, housing, disability or drug and alcohol support for those who need them cannot create genuine pathways out of criminal legal systems for the majority of people who end up in custody; there are no structural arrangements to ensure these are accessible (Sotiri et al. 2021).”

Conclusion

We recognise the failure of decades of punitive approaches to children and young people for whom factors beyond their control have accumulated to create trauma and chaos in their lives. We acknowledge the disproportionate impact these policies have had and continue to have on Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young people. We note the substantial international body of evidence including the Edinburgh Study of Youth Transitions and Crime which unequivocally demonstrate the failure of punitive approach and the success of diversionary and holistic approaches to dealing with children's needs and reducing offending⁸, and we strongly support raising the minimum age of criminal responsibility to at least 14 years.

We urge the Commissioner to continue to advocate to the Western Australian government for the provision of adequate resources and funding for remote communities like ours who often feel forgotten by decision-makers thousands of kilometres away. Our community members, leaders and service providers are ready and willing to do things differently, but we require genuine, substantial, flexible, long-term investment and support to do so.

Shire of EAST
Pilbara
THE HEART OF THE PILBARA

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

Held 7 March 2024

Introduction

On 7th March 2024 East Pilbara Shire Council held a stakeholder engagement event at Newman attended by 29 representatives from state and local government in addition to non-government organisations and service providers including youth specific organisations. All present were united in wanting to improve outcomes for young people in the Shire, particularly those who are at risk of or already involved in the criminal justice system. The questions in the CCYP discussion paper Youth Justice in Western Australia formed the basis of the conversation on the day, and the level of engagement was very high.

There was broad agreement with the ideas set out in the CCYP Youth Justice Discussion Paper and Policy Statement as well as the Blueprint for a Better Future, and strong support for holistic responses across systems to wrap support around children, young people and their families. The findings from the engagement were collated and key themes presented in the East Pilbara Shire's formal Submission to the Commission for Children and Young People in response to the Youth Justice Discussion Paper. This included a journey map setting out some of the key difficulties and also opportunities that arise for young people in the East Pilbara region. The Submission paper was necessarily succinct and unable to present all of the feedback and ideas raised at the stakeholder engagement event.

This document contains a more detailed account of the interagency engagement, with a view to further exploring the difficulties and opportunities for young people in our community as the Shire moves to develop a Youth Plan. This document should be considered alongside the Submission paper in any future planning discussions. We extend sincere thanks to the organisations and individuals who participated in the discussions on 7th March – your passion for this community and your commitment to changing things for the better was clearly evident. The Shire of East Pilbara acknowledges the Traditional Owners throughout this vast region and their continuing connection to the land, waters and community. We pay our respects to the members of these Aboriginal communities, their cultures and to their elders past, present and emerging.

This paper reports on the five themes and sub-questions laid out in the CCYP's Discussion Paper, which was the structure for the conversations on the day.

The five themes are:

1. Early intervention, prevention, diversion and support.
2. Providing children and young people with specifically designed services and supports, ensuring they are treated differently to adults.
3. Approaches that privilege relationships and engagement.
4. Therapeutic, trauma-informed approaches.
5. Review and reform: Legislation, policies and practices.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

The full content of the comments captured on the day can be found on pages 5-14 in this paper set out by the five themes. Detailed analysis of the comments revealed some key areas of common concern and focus which stretched across the five themes. These focus areas may provide a useful context for future planning and discussion relating to children and young people in the East Pilbara.

Place-based, collaborative, community-led approaches

Stakeholders recognised the value and potential of collaborative approaches that cut across silos, systems, organisations and hierarchies to provide the kind of holistic, person-centred supports that will really make a difference in the lives of East Pilbara community members. Ideally these approaches are led by the community, with youth and lived experience voices heard at every step of the way, with government and other organisations providing resources and other supports as required. In the absence of a significant investment by state and/or federal government to set up a formal place-based approach, ideas were shared for more achievable changes along these lines:

- The implementation of a youth advisory body to ensure youth voices are heard now by those making decisions for them.
- Creating more opportunities for services to share training, knowledge and resources eg. around trauma-informed practice, cultural awareness
- The development of protocols and processes to allow for sharing of information about individuals across services to provide more holistic support and avoid people falling through the gaps, particularly young people in contact with the justice system.
- Providing more opportunities for the whole community to come together for cultural understanding and celebration.
- Implementing an Elders advisory group that both supports emerging younger leaders and elevates the voice of First Nations Elders to key services and stakeholders.
- Setting up a working group of community representatives to identify a common goal and ways to work towards achieving that goal, in a collective impact approach.

Education as a key setting for supporting young people to thrive

Engagement with education was seen as a key factor in helping children to avoid contact with the criminal justice system in the first place, and it was recognised as a particularly difficult issue in the Shire. Participants recognised the difficulties faced by schools in attracting and retaining teachers and other staff, but also wanted to see the Department of Education do much more to support the attendance and engagement of young people, particularly First Nations young people, in education. Traditional school settings and curriculum were seen as often inappropriate for many local children who soon disengage and may not receive family support to attend school. Alternative, flexible, non-traditional, outreach models of education which engage the whole family and community, are trauma-informed and culturally appropriate and include on-country experiences are seen as desirable in East Pilbara. Involving local employers in the design of vocational education and internship placements could provide a pipeline of local talent and jobs, further enhancing the whole of community approach. A future exercise for stakeholders could be to reimagine what education would look like in the Shire of East Pilbara if we started from square one.

Whole of family and community approaches

There was strong recognition of the need for support to extend beyond the individual who might be the focus of the criminal justice system or interacting with other government services. Particularly with young people, efforts were seen as somewhat futile if they did not extend to family and even broader community support. Barriers to the provision of this wider support were plentiful, including insufficient funding, inflexible eligibility restrictions, difficulties engaging families, lack of appropriate facilities/infrastructure, and the inability to share information. There was a cultural element apparent in the feedback, with some noting the lack of trust within and between First Nations communities and service providers. Finding an appropriate forum for all relevant parties to have an equal seat at the table when working together to support First Nations children, young people and families would seem a key task for the immediate future in the Shire. As outlined in the Submission document, consistent pro-active efforts to build trust through well-considered communication, meeting community where they are, reflective structured dialogue and practice, and the creation of opportunities for increasing social cohesion will be a key ingredient for the delivery of successful holistic, wraparound support services and systems change in the East Pilbara.

Resourcing

Participants at the engagement event were justifiably proud of the East Pilbara community and the work they all do to support that community. They were similarly honest about the difficulties inherent in living and working in such a remote area with a largely transient population with enormous disparities in health, wealth and opportunity. The sense of being 'forgotten' by central government thousands of kilometres away was evident, along with the ever-present call for more resources, more funding. The difficulties in attracting and retaining qualified personnel to staff health, justice, education and other service agencies is clear, with no easy solutions evident other than encouraging government agencies to purchase housing stock for staff. Working collaboratively across silos in a place-based way, and setting up a community-led group that can lead advocacy efforts to government for resources and seek funding via philanthropy and grants where applicable, might be a strategy worth considering as discussions continue toward the development of the Shire's Youth Plan. The Shire acknowledges the limitations of the current Youth Centre, both the dilapidated state of the building which is not fit for purpose, and the need for a more trauma and youth-informed program with longer operating hours. The challenge of recruiting and retaining qualified staff has a very significant impact on the delivery of youth services by the Shire. A service review process has been undertaken, and with a Youth and Community Hub project underway that is seeking funding to build a new facility that will better meet the needs of the local community.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

Theme 1. Early intervention, prevention, diversion and support.

1.1. How can we improve approaches to holistic responses across the whole of government, and the service system, to children and young people at risk of offending?

CURRENT STATE/DIFFICULTIES	OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Prevention needs more attention. Maslow’s hierarchy - basic needs not being met. Connection to country not always supported. Lack of after school and recreational activities (little regional service provider flexibility). Lack of resources and crisis support. Lack of WAPOL Youth & Community Liaison Officer impacts trust building/engagement. WAPol officers tend to only stay for two years. No opportunity for individual self-determination.	Trauma-informed training across the sector. Systemic approach. Whole of family approach, intensive family support. Lobby for fully funded Child & Adolescent Mental Health Team at WACHS. Multisystemic therapy (MST). Whole of community approach to increasing education engagement. Early intervention. Consider a ‘dry’ community (or ETOH) restrictions.

1.2. How can justice reinvestment principles support improved outcomes from intervention, prevention, diversion & support programs?

CURRENT STATE/DIFFICULTIES	OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Unclear who is taking responsibility for prevention. Little or no prevention work being done, impacting local resources eg. police. Dept of Justice/YJ is under-resourced. Court process is clunky and slow – young people with lengthy bail periods commit further crimes while waiting for court hearings. Detention doesn’t work, young people return more damaged and disconnected. Diversion is only as strong as the available system. Lack of WAPol resources, many hours spent compiling brief of evidence. Young people often unable to return to country as community is not welcoming or are blocking return. Young people not feeling safe or connected, rather isolated and unwanted.	Age of criminal responsibility need to be raised to 14. Youth Advisory Board to listen to voices of young people and encourage participation. Community and family need to be at the centre Encourage participation in education or suitable alternatives. Invest in vocational opportunities and careers. Community needs to drive programs. Look at programs that are having success elsewhere eg. Boxing, equine therapy. Encourage connection to country and Elders to their lands.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

1.3. In reviewing the Young Offenders Act 1994 (WA), what consideration needs to be given to strengthening approaches for early intervention, prevention, diversion and support to reduce the numbers of children and young people coming into contact with the youth justice system?

CURRENT STATE/DIFFICULTIES	OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Old legislation that needs to be reviewed. Coercion with families and communities occurs. WAPol – cautions, JJT, detention as last resort. Housing needs improvement – often overcrowded, insecure and untenable. 18–24-year-olds often fall through the gaps. Primary education setting needs to be more accountable and engage with DoJ. Police want to feel they have done their best.	More meaningful diversion programs. Need to understand the young person’s world view. Consider barriers of current policies & procedures. Provide services in a ‘safe space’, engaging young people with patience and persistence. Have young people drive their individual care plans. Consider the impact of lore/culture as to when young people come of age. Involve Elders in DoJ processes.

1.4. How can we engage with children and young people to ensure they are supported in resolving the issues that lead them to entering the youth justice system?

OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Meaningful engagement. Self-determination. Whole family approach. Youth advisory panels. Increase recreational and entertainment opportunities to limit boredom, crime, substance abuse etc. Ensure workplaces enact sensible crime prevention measures eg. secure cars without keys in ignition. Identify barriers and exclusions that exist within current services.

1.5. How can we ensure comprehensive approaches to rehabilitation and reintegration are implemented to prevent recurring engagement with the youth justice system?

OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Invest in a cattle station on country. Have animals and horses. Make it simple. Have non-traditional schools eg. Yiramalay in the Kimberley works well for young people on country. Ensure trauma-informed practice. Not one size fits all. Increase local employment opportunities. East Pilbara Shire to implement a scholarship program. Workplaces to increase housing stock to recruit and retain staff.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

1.6. What are some local East Pilbara issues/ideas relating to early intervention, prevention, diversion and support?

ISSUES/IDEAS
Increase recreational activities. Ensure First Nations children and young people are appropriately supported to engage and participate in formal/structured sport. Including funding for uniforms, sports shoes, club fees, transport etc. East Pilbara is a community that is volunteer-poor, those who do volunteer are stretched. Shire’s Club Development Officer is part time – needs more resourcing and time to properly support and engage First Nations young people with a well developed plan/strategy. Lower Youth Centre age to 7. Have more flexibility allowing for the uniqueness of Newman. Continue regular networking. Remove barriers for programming and events. Support young people with job preparedness and skills eg. resume preparation.

Theme 2. Providing children and young people with specifically designed services and supports, ensuring they are treated differently to adults.

2.1. How do we develop and implement wrap-around holistic whole of family programs across the early intervention, prevention, diversion space to ensure continuity of care for at-risk children and young people?

CURRENT STATE/DIFFICULTIES	OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Whole of family interaction challenging as dealing with the young person only. Cycle of behaviour with adults - difficult to get support. Need more outreach services on the streets. Currently no specifically designed youth services.	Education for young people and adults, separate but similar language to be used. Develop a framework to achieve a common goal – need a champion to lead. Adults to be included in case management/co-ord. Relationships and engagement with stakeholders. Capitalise on main events of the year – festivals etc. Implement additional events eg. end of term dinner. Have an ongoing program. One off events won’t sustain change. Consider broader family members understanding cultural dynamics. Legal and cultural guardians to be considered when supporting the young person. Engage and network with services eg. Interagency and VSU. Education for young men after lore of the dual world (cultural adult vs legal adult). Ensure the family representative is best suited to the young person.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

2.2. How can we co-design solutions with children and young people with lived experience of the youth justice system so that we better meet their needs?

OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Have a mentor/motivational speaker – identify older teens that have been in the criminal justice system. Lore – cultural role models. Create opportunities to chat with young people in the system via people they trust – funded mentor and lived experience programs. Use lived experience to inform practices. Research on child brain development to inform practices. Utilise youth feedback – what would it take to stop offending? Constraints in current infrastructure. Arts, engagement education classes. Willing participants – what are the barriers? Funding. Relationships/trust. Culturally appropriate. Follow through. Manage expectations.

2.3. How do we improve government and service collaboration to ensure gaps in support are minimised?

OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Good relationships to share information and documentation. Social workers, counsellors and early family intervention. Services that cater for under 10 years (before offending behaviour commences). Youth Centre to have a time slot for under 10s. Create peer support workers (mentors, EET, peer role models). Instill sense of responsibility/pride. Create working group for collaboration; regular networking meetings, opportunity to share information and resources.

2.4. How might community policing approaches be reimaged to incorporate principles of early intervention and whole of family support into diversion practices?

ISSUES/IDEAS
Youth policing roles no longer in WA. Aboriginal Liaison Officers in WAPol to be selected by community members and have long term tenure. Infrastructure – interview rooms questionable. Look at adult vs children’s hospital settings. Loose bail conditions: non-association conditions setting young people up to fail, to come from Officer in Charge. Support young people with job preparedness and skills eg. resume preparation. Local services are not 24/7 (Martu Hostel the exception however the young person needs to be engaged in education). Alternate education setting like Yiramalay in East Pilbara – scope funding and location, maybe Roy Hill? Preventative programs for Family and Domestic Violence – strong correlation with crime statistics.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

2.5. How might youth justice models of community engagement support self-determination and partnerships with Aboriginal communities and Aboriginal Controlled Community Organisations?

ISSUES/IDEAS
Lack of ACCO engagement at table and school. Highlight relationships, give feedback to stakeholders. Currently utilising Elders that aren't in town. Support is not localised or culturally appropriate. Person-centred care with holistic family inclusion. Include cultural and family inclusion and world view. Work with next generation of Elders (40-50 year olds). Elders are often burnt out.

2.6. What are some local East Pilbara issues/ideas relating to specially designed services and supports for children and young people?

ISSUES/IDEAS
Need for informal police presence at school and Youth Centre (just to say hi). Collective approach, stakeholder collaboration. Youth Centre drop in on a regular basis/day. Family education on violence. Interview room at police station to change appearance. Martumili to have more connection with young people and to broaden cohort to other First Nations young people.

Theme 3. Approaches that privilege relationships and engagement.

3.1. How do we support youth justice staff to build robust and safe relationships with children and young people?

OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Constant communication. Further training for youth justice workers and stakeholders. Cultural awareness/sensitivity. Understanding the young person's world view. More workers in the sector. Community awareness – understanding community services/providers. Employment of First Nations workers. Positive promotion of youth justice. Build relationships with families, community and stakeholders. Share documents – more MOUs needed. Prevention officers that build relationships with young people prior to being 'in the system'. Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

3.5. How can we encourage children and young people in detention to speak up or express their needs to Youth Custodial Officers?

ISSUES/IDEAS
Building trust – how you speak and communicate, show empathy, role model. Meaningful relationships prior to entry into the criminal justice system. Have police involved in community events. Be proactive rather than reactive. Follow up – do what you say you are going to do. Patrol – stop, chat, build rapport doing general activities. Provide accurate information. Be clear and simple. Educate in relation to boundaries and consequences. Provide a ‘safe place’. Immersion in the community. Have an understanding where the young people are coming from. Have youth workers in detention centres. Too many restrictions currently. Have mentors/advocates. First Nations music and art eg. Indigenous Art Foundation and Bradley Hall. Westrac Institute/Apprenticeship Program – see if BHP can replicate it with a youth focus.

3.6. What support do families need to build trust with their children, justice professionals and the justice system? Includes local East Pilbara needs and responses.

NEEDS/IDEAS
Alcoholics Anonymous. ETOH restrictions when there is a funeral in town. Elder working group – T120. More diversion activities. Families to create their own program. Extra funding. More collaboration with youth justice. Shadow other stakeholders – ‘a day in the life of...’ Blue Light Disco. More advocacy and intervention for mental health services in town.

Theme 4. Therapeutic, trauma-informed approaches.

4.1. What are the impediments to building trauma-informed approaches into, and across the span of the youth justice system?

IMPEDIMENTS
What, who and how will this work be led and funded? Requires high level champion, training, funding. Police are not culturally informed on how to work with young people due to lack of resources/funding. Bus service is no longer available. Funding and program changes. Legislation is a barrier. Lack of information sharing across the sector. Lack of resources across the board – need to be efficient. Advance of court there is a lack of opportunity to refer for assessments. Delay in the medical system. Transient nature of the community. Not all services offer outreach. Environmental factors. Lack of coordination. Need political will to change the system. Need holistic approach to community trauma. Issues with ETOH (lack of restrictions). Criteria to access services – too many restrictions. What assessment occurs when a young person is in detention and how is the information used? Young people being coerced into crime by adults. Lack of long term funding. Grass roots not receiving funding. Lack of local knowledge as to what is available (FIFO/transitional community). Freedom of information across government departments, poor attendance at info sharing meetings. Detentions centres having no awareness of where young people have come from. Lack of early intervention approaches.

4.2. What are the opportunities associated with implementing trauma-informed approaches at all phases of the youth justice system?

OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
WAPol sit in with justice treatment teams. Shire to lead membership for access to localised training and resources. Induction pack for service providers. Training and collaboration between services. WAPol-central academic. Information to be shared efficiently. Opportunity to build relationships through word of mouth – flow on effect, trust of reputation. Organisations having culturally informed training. Person not role. Organisations to work with justice treatment teams in court and the community. Self-determination, empowerment to be community driven. Collaboration between services.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

4.3. How can we change detention practices to ensure the safety of both the staff and the children and young people?

ISSUES/IDEAS
Localised centre in the Pilbara and Kimberley (place-based approaches). Prison farms – different approach to detention, more facilities. Nullagine police area is different. More trauma-informed practice. More services available in detention. More early intervention/diversionary programs. There is no more Pitola Program – needs to be prioritized based on need. More family training to understand programs and bail conditions – needs a holistic approach.

4.4. What opportunities are available to ensure staff have quality training and development in understanding child and youth development and trauma?

OPPORTUNITIES/IDEAS
Initial induction, networking, training, resources for new staff commencing in the region. Scenario based training. More specialised staff. Opportunities to shadow other service providers to experience the realities of working in the community.

4.5. What are the barriers identified for raising the minimum age of criminal responsibility in Western Australia?

BARRIERS
The Act/legislation. Requires systems change at many levels, not just a knee-jerk reaction for one part of one system. Lack of awareness from government. Lack of early intervention and as a result increasing number of young offenders. Need to increase service supports if age of criminal responsibility is raised. Policy/referral processes need to change. Have consistency across policies and referral pathways to ensure alignment.

Detailed Findings from Interagency Engagement on Youth Justice

Theme 5. Review and reform: Legislation, policies and practices.

General comments and ideas on legislation, policies and practices.

COMMENTS/IDEAS
Young Offenders Act 1994 outdated and needs to be reviewed. Child Safe standards need to be implemented. Mandatory reporting. Age of criminal responsibility needs to increase to 14 and be consistent/align with other states. Incongruencies in regards to age within policies etc. Increase detention options for young people. Banksia is currently the only option. The criminal justice system is one size fits all. Infrastructure needs to be fit for purpose, child friendly. Need an intermediary once a child turns 18. A transitional space that can offer trades/skills and support for behavioural change. Incentives for nationwide staffing shortages. Make further use of restorative justice. Engage Martu mentors that can act as a conduit between DoJ and courts. Have a board to capture First Nations diversity – a cultural authority.
